Sounds like you know the drill. Only one with experience could of come up with soap and water.. You and chunks' ought to try it once...ie double dating. Would make your parents proud and a process to leave the attic once and for all.

Hey Petey boy

Your still insisiting on being a totally clueless fucknut I see. I'll give you a few clues to get you starting
1) his avid works
2) because of clue #1, he doesn't need another one!!!

So ASSHOLE, why would he buy another one when He already has one that works

Hey vidiot:

Here it is spelled out for your damaged little mind:
1) you atack atari, amiga and other computer users
2) you fake being a mac user to provoke other computer users to attack mac users
3) you never devend your imaginary mac in csma from wintrolls and in fact quote them verbatim in your attacks on everyone else
4) you've publicly admitted you don't participate in csma cause you claim that your "dell works perfectly all the time and don't need tech support for it"

So, ASSHOLE, we laugh at you frothing at the mouth all these years as you think you can fool us all when all you've fooled is yourself cause in the end as always the only fool here is YOU

Heres more cluse for you asshole,

1) see those spams (the only ones here you didn't post) that advertise the sex sites you love so much. its called porn.

2) my life experience includes soap and water cause I and many other people do something called hygine, something your sorely lacking which also partly explains your fascination with your imaginary friend chunks

3) We laugh at your hissy fits and lack of any kind of spelling or grammer cause face it we know your a idiotic 12 year old with delusions of power.

4) The rest of your drivel will not be replied to since its pointless, the only point you have is under your tinfoil hat.

Has anyone heard if Tech TV will do a live coverage of the SJobs keynote like last time?
Sure hope so....Rather be comfty at home while nursing a cup of joe than being crushed with 300 or so at the MOA.

Really? You discovered that all on your own? Amazing.

Twinkie, you brought up "Felicity" as an example of FCP being used to cut a feature film in response to me.
Felicity is NOT a feature film.

> I am learning everyday, a never ending process.

Keep reading.

> So why not a new Avid purchase?

Well, let's see. I already have one, and it still works.

Let's compare that to the machine my dual 800 replaced, a G3 400 that was originally purchased as my second editing station. I'm already replacing my G3 because it isn't fast enough.

The Avid? I'm keeping it, because it always works. It's based on a 9500 by the way... and it still runs at a decent speed.

So be it. Your trademark is to come here and make an ass of yourself, while demonstrating your ignorance in my area of knowledge.

> > My Avid works.
> But you are not buying another one...

Yea, because it still works after all these years.

> Yea...After Effects is a worthy add on..

It SHOULDN'T BE necessary, if Apple would create a halfway decent title tool.

> Does not work reliability yet?

Again, it will NOT capture without dropping frames in OSX or OS9. That's version 3.

Version 2.02 will crash EVERY TIME when batch capturing long clips and give me an "out of drive space" error (even though I have much drive space, 200 gigs worth).

No, I mean how many will go the Avid route instead of the FCP route. Markets are liquid, twinkie. Avid built hardware because computers couldn't keep up. But much like Pro Tools, they STILL have the best SOFTWARE out there, and the best software goes a long way when you're looking for reliability.

No he wont' be since hes a wintroll not a mac user (as further evidenced by his total bullshit regarding avid's AV tools). He's famous for years now after repeatedly coming on here and trying to bullshit everyone how he went to macworld and other apple trade events (which he's never been registered to enter, not even once).

Again you try to amuse us with your sad bullshit. You're the only one defending the porn spammers in here. This is because you have no life and no real friends much less a girlfriend. I've told you before everyone knows this about you already and you continute to lie about it. this isn't news tifkas.
The lack of spelling in the newsgroups is your own, nobody elses. You cant blame everyone else for your stupidity or lack of basic hygeine. This isn't news to anyone either. But you vainly keep lying as everyone keeps laughing at you.

We all know your as inept as your pathetic hero ballmer. So you might as well give up cause you'll never catch up. This is part of the real world not your fantasy pervert world you want to live in.

So thats how chunks picked you up. When are you gonna realize your imaginary friend isn't real?

BTW, fcp is just another one of your smokescreens to attack avid. something you'd know about if you'd ever been a mac user as you've always lied about. One last point (AGAIN!!!!!) as has been explained to your empty head already, his avid system works and does all is required of it. He does not need a new one. People get what they need, not what they already have. Thats why shoul should get a brain (you haven't got one) and why he doesn't need another avid (he's got one). DUH, since you can't get a clue about anything else then its no surpise you're still as brain dead about avid as well.

I mean, even the flops that Apple made were at least good looking flops.

Esthetics has a limit, concerning innovation, and Steve Jobs just exceeded

I agree. Still, it disturbs me that Nintendo took ten years to catch up.
Sigh. Nintendo is one of the most innovative companies when it comes to software. But when it comes to hardware, it's a whole different ballgame.

I disagree. It is just a matter of programing good games not saying that the present games for the Lynx are not bad.

HipCrime offers a new service: Custom massive spamming, FREE.

Just post a URL to Free.HipCrime, and a "joe job" spam will be conducted via both Usenet and Email. Your article will appear in _every_ newsgroup (even moderated ones), and it is protected from the filters and cancelbots by the latest in hash busting & cancel preempting technology. Plus, your message will be sent to many millions of emails (direct from closed, non-blacklisted mail servers).

This will give you the best of both worlds: gigantic growth in your site's traffic, combined with "plausible deniability" with regards to any complaints.

Your site will become "internet famous" overnight, and a critical mass of visitors will make it a "net hot spot" for years to come.

Got doubts? Just check with some of our happy customers, whose traffic rates have recently shot through the roof, for example:

Chuckle. I pop into atari.advocacy for the first time since the mid-1990s, and I discover that Sinplop is still here, being a royal pain in the ass and dispensing with "I know you are but what am I?" comebacks in between faulty logic.

Yawn.

The hilarious part is despite his bogus claims to being a mac user (even after admitting his only computer is as dell) he has never once posted on the mac.advocacy newsgroup, or any other mac group except for on instance when he stated "neener neener neener I posted in csma". This has earned him the widespread reupatation of being a net.kook at best although most regard him as a lame bill palmer (aka palmjob) impersonator. What always gives me a laugh is most atari users have done a better job at defending the mac (and everything else) against his fellow wintrolls than he has. That really destroys any hope he ever had of anyone believing him of being "a mac user out to stop the atari jihad".

Same here. I popped in rec.games.video.atari for the first time in an eon to see the same old... There still clinging that Atari will make a comeback and still in denial from my earlier posts that the jagflop did not have a chance. Also, Yak is there and is currently working on his next failed-flop venture... What ever happened to VM Labs? Dead?

Well, sincrap, when are you going to come back with an original response? you've just proved Marks point for him. Not that he, I, or anyone else didn't realize your a usenet kook years ago!!

Answer us this: Why do you crosspost your spam to rec.games.video.atari? You've never been an atari owner. Hell you're not even the mac user you claimed to be all these years. Thats why before christmas
YOU ADMITTED to owning a dell after I'd asked you why you didnt go csma to defend your so called mac against the people who really were attacking the mac (namely your fellow wintrolls). Your response was
"WHY WOULD I GO THERE? I'VE NEVER HAD TO CALL TECH SUPPORT FOR PROBLEMS WITH MY DELL!!!!"

If you'd bothered to go to the google groups archive after being told to so many times you'd know this.
Of course the reason you havent, despite using google groups to post your vitriolic spam, is that you'd be forced to face evidence that you've been a flat out LIAR and KOOK for years.

Btw, on the topic of flops, how is your vindictive little plan to bash all non-wintrolls off the net by trying to provoke Mac, Atari & amiga users off the net in your little "atari jihad"?

Lets see what hilarious lies you come up with this time. Lets hope its something new rather than the same tired old crap you've been stealing from palmjob.

Because Mark "Incredible Hulk" Rathwell was the one who began the

Let me say this one more time, I hate repeating myself...

I don't give a dam what computer platform people use. There is a consequence when one choses a platform. I don't own/use a Dell or any wintel box because I don't want to spend 10 hours on tech support.
Which is the reason I use X, as an Mac OS X. What do you not understand?

If thats the case, Than, the public record has been corrected above.
Got to slow down the typing next time to avoid confusion.

One man's diffinition of spam is another's ideas.. Get off usenet if you do not like it..

ROFLMAO! I owned about every Atari console out there. Usenet is a public forum of ideas and opinion of discussion. The clan at Atari destroyed the domestic video game market and handed it to Nintendo.

No little wanker, I'm asking YOU, YOU"RE the one who's been abusing atari (and mac) users for years with your BS, its YOU who's been posting garbage in the atari groups in your moronic attempts to get mac and atari (not to mention amiga) owners at each others throats. But then you still don't get it do you!!! you can't simply lie your ass off and turn around 5 minutes later and claim the exact opposite without Btw, if you really don't care what computers people use why the hell have you been skulking around in atari and amiga newsgroups trying to start a flame war with the mac users out there?

I understand perfectly. I understand that you've blatantly lying and insulting a great many people. Even now you contradict YOUR own statements with yet more of your lies. Thats why we laugh at you. Thats why you're known far and wide as the quintessential usenet kook. Get a clue loser, nobody will believe you simply cause
"you said so". Get over it, and while your at it GET A LIFE.

Sincrap, once again you confuse your lies and the FACTS. here is what SPAM means: "SPAM: repeated mailbombing of others email accounts and/or usenet newsgroups with material totally off topic and unwanted. contents of spam messages fall into 2 categories, commercial (ie get rich quick schemes and porn), slander (unwanted malicious attacks against individuals or groups) " the second category is what you fall into.

Another FACT for you sincrap. You're the one who doesn't belong here. Your blatant BS doesn't belong. So why the hell should I and the rest of the population who want usenet be forced to abandon it to give you free reign to post your bullshit?

Answer: there is no reason. you're a liar and a kook, therefore it is not the rest of usenet who should get lost but you. You don't own usenet sincrap, you have no claim at all on it.

Poor pathetic sincrap. first you pretend to be a mac user now you pretend to be an atari user. Listen up ASSHOLE, nobody believes this little lie of yours either. You've continually demonstrated ZERO KNOWLEGE of both mac and atari systems. You've never used one much less actually owned one. And remember this from your own message, its a PUBLIC forum, not an ivory tower from which you alone can toss your garbage at the rest of humanity. If you can't live by what you say then crawl back under the rock you came from.

Yes sincrap, those of us who live in the real world know your self proclaimed mentor is palmjob (aka the "flame giant" of usenet). Must I tell you again about "chunks"? your delusion of "chunks" is your imaginary friend there for it cannot teach anything to anyone. Thats a pity really cause you've got so much to learn about a thing called life which is what people do in the real world. The real world is that place outside the basement you live in. You should try it sometime, if you could only fit into it. But that would require a stable mind, something you're sorely lacking.

Yea, I actually CREATE with my mac. I've recorded and mixed a couple of CDs, countless demos, done a ton of video editing...

All you have is your little life here (on an atari newsgroup, no less) talking about things you know little or nothing about.

Grow up, twinkie. Stop being such a child and DO something.

You're a society puppet Mr Sinplop...

I liken Rodolphes work to working on a car. In this case its an older car and he is trying to extract more performance from it. If it were a car he was working on would you slag his work off in the same way?
I think not...

I parallel that with the actual example of my car. Its a 1991 Honda Prelude VTEC manual transmission with 190 BHP engine power. There are petrol-heads in New Zealand who swear by V8 cars made by Ford and by Holden (General Motors). These brand new Fords and Holdens are sold as performance cars (to petrolheads), yet my little Honda will outstrip most of them in 0-60mph. These V8's have 5.0 or 5.7 litre engines next to my cars 2.2 litre 4 cylinder mill!

It just goes to show that big powerful engines and perceived high performance are often beaten with smart engineering. So it is with cars...so it is with computers. The moral of the story is that you don't need a 2 GHz Pentium 4 or 800 Mhz G4 to own a computer that meets your own individual needs performance-wise.

Mr Sinplop is stupid enough that he believes we all need machines like his wonderful iMucks. Personally I'd rather buy a used SGI O2 for $300 off ebay and get much better value for money...

Goodness gracious me!!

On one hand Petey says use any platform...I don't care!

Then he says I use Mac OS X cos Wintel tech support is a 10 hour drag! He also says there will be consequences of choice.

To me one consequence of our choice is having a Macintroll slag us day and night for doing as HE suggests!

Perhaps he is a little phucked in the cranial region?!! (I think that is a unanimous points decision!)

I personally think he is a sad individual with a future as big

At least we have that to thank him for!!

TIFKAS (the idiot forever known as sincrap) is well known for his idiocy in his wintaliban campaign.
Unlike many wintrolls who are honest enough to admit their blatant bias, sincrap foolishly tries to convince us his dell is really an imac in some perverse attempt to provoke mac users and everyone into his dystopian dementia known as "atari jihad". Fact is, if he were a mac user he'd be in csma defending the mac against wintrolls. Instead he leaves it to others. Truth be known, more atari users have defended the mac against wintrolls then the faux iDork known as sincrap.

This is like comparing apples and oranges. Both fruit but different. Both the items you are comparing are cars but they are totally different. The Ford with a V8 out wieghs your car buy more than a few hundred pounds to start with. Most Petrolheads as you call them are more into the the torque and the TOP speed in a 1/4 mile. 0-60 really dont mean anything. Ive controlled over 15000 HP yes 15,000HP but it would only reach a top speed of 80mph but it had a 2500 TONS behind it. Lets compare that to hhhmm nothing to compare it to..

Rodolphe Czubas upgrade will run like a Ferrari in a Atari chassis. Who really needs 200mhz. I dont try to keep up with anyone, the Jones always have more money than me.

Well written, well done....

I am now thirty eight and owned an Atari back in the late eighties. I am somewhat going throught the nostalga/mid-life crisis now myself, having acquired three machines, two monitors and a hard disk in the last three weeks. I just had to have one or three again(spare parts!). One machine is a stock 520stfm, the other is a 1040stfm and the third a 2.5 megabyte 1040stfm. I am a computer consultant and I work with the latest hardware and software(anyone want to squeeze ORACE9i into 2.5 megs of RAM?) and can afford such silliness now. When I first bought the machine I paid over $1000 for a 1040, colour monitor and extra drive. I figure this little splurge will cost me about $500.

My daughter is not overly impressed with the graphics but she IS impressed with the boot time compared to my '98 box

Hi Brent,

My idea of an atari revival is a bit different than Jareds (not as broad as what he'd envisioned) but closer to what your doing. I think most atari users are in the same position as you and I (except I never did sell off my atari gear).

I think the small local atari user groups are a great thing for keeping our older machines going and helping each other get stuff going. Believe it or not, where I live the was once 3 atari groups that I remember coming across. But in the past 5 years or so its been down to 1 group with less than 10 members and that recently dissappeared. Guess its time for me to get stuck in and start one up.

This is true that my Honda and V8 Fords/Holdens are totally different niche markets (you can fit a family in a Ford/Holden, don't try that in a Prelude!) but the Ford/Holden guys always antagonise 'jap-crap' owners on the roads here, saying they drive shitty gutless cars that their V8 will trounce. The image here is that if you drive a V8 it will be faster than a 'japper', and that you will be a "real man". We 'japper-crapper' owners know that sometimes isn't true...;^)

I'm not far from getting 200MHz (in an SGI O2!). That will be nice for home videos etc...but you're right in that day-to-day emailing and spreadsheeting/letter typing doesn't really need that...my Falcon030 does fine...

Oh, the V8 boys also claim better top speed and great handling. Most of the V8's (unless supercharged or similar) max out at 140-150mph. The model Prelude I have tops out at 140mph, and makes the handling of the V8's seem a little barge-like...

It depends what your needs are. If your looking for a tool to burn DVD's via IDVD, the low cost of the new iMac G4 would fit the bill.
Just need to surf, write and burn CD's, the $999 iMac 600 is ideal for those uses.

In your case....as usual denial... "Who needs cutting edge tools that burn DVD/CD, edit photos/video and ipod capabilities, thats why I love the 80's eara" Sounds like sour grapes.

Whats an iMuck? For many that had thier Macs for ten years, an upgrade plan is in place when need to. i don't think that $799 for a new imac is breaking the bank. Is certaintly cheaper than adding ad on hack n slash boards that could do moore harm than good. Forgot, thats your only option.

Look, I don't care what computer users use. Hate repeating myself....If folks like to spend hours on tech support, always trouble shooting, and like the blue scree, any Dell or other wintel's will fit the bill. I'd rather be productive and creative, thats why I use a Apple's had some real flops, but sales of the Cube were higher than the Jagflop.

You see, Apple's flops were bumps in the road, Atari flops were fatal.

SinPLOP, I in fact do have a say since I am an atari user and this is an atari newsgroup. Even your idiotic attempt at posing as a mac user doesn't give you any right to come in here and bash people, even if you were a mac user (which is another of your lies) really sinplop, you need to get a new lie. nobodies forgotten that in the past week you claim to own this newsgroup

I live in the real world sinplop, you see I spend my time doing something called living, which involves dealing with people, working, having an education. These are things you've never done. On the other hand you still live in your parents basement, spend all day surfing porn websites and impersonating your idol bill palmer (better known as palmjob) all the while blaming your sad lack of friends on your imaginary partner "chunks". When it comes right down to it you have no life, and no right to even use the words real and world in the same sentence (since you've never experienced either). Your only claim to fame is having your one and only shower in 1984 on the same day IBM announced the release of the IBM AT.

I hate to burst your bubble again sinplop. But your lies are so transparent. If you truly didnt' care what computers other people use you wouldn't spend your entire pathetic nonlife trolling usenet trying to provoke

The Amiga was so much better than the S(hit)T(hing), with its hcopyy 4 bit Atari sound and crappy OS....

If you want nostalgia, and want to relive the old days, relive them BETTER, Get an Amiga (A500, A1200 etc) and rediscover all those old games BETTER and more fun....

And James, you TOSser, you should have got a grammer checker for CHristmas, The words "with your life? that is, besides being" should be "with your life? That is, besides being", ie capital T on the "That"...

Er, I would just like to point out that Mac and Atari uses SHOULD be abused...Those chump who bought an ST should have bought the far superior Amiga, they should be abused for all they are worth...

Those people who use Mac's are just locked in their own little mental Hey sockpuppet.

You really dont know just how stupid you really are. You attack my spelling and grammer, which unlike yours, is not flawed. On top of that you play into the hands of that blatant shithead sinplop by buying into his stupid bullshit. You make it yours, and in turn make yourself into his sock puppet.

Am I an amiga basher? hell no. I'm a commodore user already in addition to my ST and mac stuff. This is how I easily recognize your idiocy for what it is. Btw, I was at computerfest friday and popped into the TPUG booth. Unlike you, they are not atari bashers, in fact they've been known to occasionally collaborate with atari users on some classic computer events. This is why they are recognized as true commodore users, not as a whining asshole such as yourself.

And your point is? The fact is AMiga is still so much better than the Atari on so many levels...Of =course they've been known to collaborate with atari users, Amiga users find some amusement in occasionally throwing you Atari users a bone or two so you odn;t feel too left out...

Oh "true commodore users"?? What the fu does that mean? You idealistic arsehole, pull your head out of your colon...

Oh the fact still remains that Atari was shite compared to the Amiga...

To give an english lesson you must understand english. Since your a moron 3rd class failed, you cannot teach english, or anything else. For you know NOTHING, Fact is your nothing more than the latest in sinplops latest string of sock puppets

You're a pathetic loser. Get over it. you think you can fake an email address and pretend to be one of your own supporters when the world knows you have none. You fantasize that you can accuse me of making your spelling and grammar mistakes for you. I don't post your messages under one of your many aliases, you DO. I and the rest of the denizens of usenet sit back and laugh at your latest infantile tirade. Btw, I checked groups.google.com and many of the denizens of usenet knew you'd resort to posing as an amiga user to provoke one of your "atari jihads" once you were exposed to be neither a mac user back in comp.sys.amiga.advocacy in late 1993 and in comp.sys.atari.advocacy in early 1994.

Sinplop,

Look in your imagination for your imaginary friend "chunks", but do remember its spelled C H U N K S, get a spelling checker, it gave you away when you posed as your own sockpuppet "darkling". Btw, you really should stop being so predictible. Now that you've posted your own material from 1993 on a monthly basis since then its getting boring. If you want people to keep laughing at you (which is all you've ever achieved) then you really should hire a ghostwriter to not only write some new crap for you and eliminate your grammatical and spelling faux pas.

Hey ASSHOLE,

You've just proven that your sinplops sockpuppets, you accuse me of making spelling and grammatical errors and immediately continue to make those errors yourself, the same errors you've always made in all of your other sockpuppet aliases. Get a clue moron. I've told you many times before, nobody believes your idiocy. Here again is where you cannot separate your fantasy from facts, you indeed did admit you have a dell several weeks ago. I've told you repeatedly to look it up in groups.google.com which is where you've been posting your drivel from anyways. I've checked and its still in the archives there.

You'd be better off keeping your lies consistant sincrap. You lose again. Your only prior employers were convience stores (aka Apu from the quick e mart). They don't use macs on the job, certainly not for the night clerk such as yourself who can't keep up with a macintosh or anything else. The only electronic device you would have used on the job is the cash register (which isn't made by apple). This is why your so blindingly ignorant of the Macintosh, and everything else. You see you gave yourself away when you said "application hardware", you still don't have the slightest clue that applications are SOFTWARE and the hardware is what you need to run them on.

I'd like to be able to read my old Atari (mostly ST Writer and 1st Word) wp disks on my modest pc (A 486 running Windows 3.11 for Wordgroups and Word version 6, so I'm not much of a traiter.... I say this because when I asked this about the C64 a couple of years back someone got really uppity with me). It won't read the disks at present, which I understand. I bought a disk that was supposed to remedy this once, but it didn't work - is there anything that does? Preferably available on the web for free.... I have looked, as yet without success.
E'mailed response is as welcome as postings. Thanks in advance for all replies.

Hello,

What TOS do/did you have in your ST? If it is 1.4 or above, you should be able to read the disks in your PC. If not, you may need an emulator like Pacifist.

Give it up, everyone has known for years that "chunks" is your imaginary friend. Btw, your still clueless as always, the last TAF flea market was in November, that was months ago. It wouldn't have made a difference anyways, the north york city centrer where the event was held, like most other public places, won't let you in. The staff offices have a memo from the security office which simply states "whatever you do, don't admit that bufoon sinplop!!!"

Sorry for all the locals and their offspring that reside here, but....

Sinplop, your the biggest ass I've never met. You have been the most ignorant ass for the last 5 or 6 years in all the Atari groups. You're a total dick head. This new "Dark Turd" kid holds nothing to you. He might as well just give up now, he could never meet your level of moronic intelligence. You serve no purpose. You're a maggot eating its way through the rotten fabric of your parent's upbringing. Did I say you're a total dick head? You're the green crap on a dog's dick.
You're a festering puss blister. You are the balls of shit stuck to Marilyn Mansions ass.
Unfortunately, you live in America, and you have the freedom of speech. Otherwise the Atari Jihad would have slit your nuts and stuffed them in your bloody gob many years ago.
Wow, that felt good!

Atari rules, and all that stuff.
Your very old friend, Michael.

Well not to put too fun a point on it but dorkling is sinplop, you see sinplops been using his sockpuppets for years, a full decade in fact. groups.google.com archives has his drivel as far back as 1993 (which is a continuation of his drivel no longer in the archives). As you've likely noticed he's been posting winblows and mac attacks in the amiga groups under his dorkling alias as well recently (proving he's not an amiga user). This after a 6 year break away from harassing real amiga users. And after his more than decade long tirade against "atari jihads" (who exist exclusivly in his mind much like his imaginary friend chunks). What has he accomplished? nothing other than proving that all the "colourful metaphors" used to describe him by you, I and others are entirely accurate. I suspect he's just trying to get a full decades worth of his crap into the google archive to validate his membership into the

kooks society (chaired by Rush Limbaugh, James Randi, Phil Klass, and Laura (the faux doctor) Shliesinger)

I recall when you first got you PAK! Almost unbearable to live with here for a time:) Guess you could say we are slightly related.
Purchased a Mighty Sonic about the same time. Fast ram was cool to discover:)

My ISP service has changed so many times over the years, no one remembers my ID. Sinplop should, he complained once years ago when I dumped about 3 megs of crap in his mailbox:) Ended up having to buy the friend that runs the server a beer over that one. He is such a whine ass baby. I've wasted time in my life that i'm ashmed of, but jeezzz, this guy won't have anything to look back on when he dies....unless he crosses over.....Not that we would take him:).

Yes I was let in, as were several REAL Atari and Macintosh users (of which you are neither). The only one person shop that had anything to do with it is you, since your the only one who still thinks of your

Hey Loser,

give up already, we know its you using yet another sockpuppet / alias. Your raging homophobia and typing in all caps combined with bad spelling give you away every time. Perhaps its time you got your foot out of your ass before you get arrested for public lewdness, again.

That was nothing to do with the PAK i'm sure, although i know Lonny Purcell wants my children.

| Guess you could say we are slightly related.
| Purchased a Mighty Sonic about the same time. Fast ram was cool to discover:)

I feel the need, the need for speed..
My current Atari is running at 2.0Ghz, slumming it on a Pentium 4, i still prefer the old 40Mhz beastie though.

| My ISP service has changed so many times over the years, no one remembers my ID.

I've not yet found an IP that will last me more than a few months!!.

3Meg!?, how times have changed, a 3Meg download is the norm these days for minor service patches!!.

Hm!, I've got rather a lot of skanky Viri picked out by AVG, I could attach a few of them to him, how about a nice Goner virus, that'll take his mind off of his boner!!.. 8-)

I thought Lonny went dutch! I'm suppose to be looking for GFA 1.0 for him, just haven't had time to open the boxes. Shit, I owe him, sold me a signed version of Chronos. Lots of games....might start some kind of contest here if ppl don't mind and give the lot away. To much trbl to sell. I'm keeping Zork damnit! Lost my mind there, and have to go back and find it! Think it was near the chasm. Damn mechanical birds....

NFW! I tried the Jit Mac emu on my P4. Looked cool at first, but all my good FPU stuff bombs pretty quick. Missing my AB/Rack. It's spread out on a table waiting for the 060. Hocked my CLAB case, so the Mighty Sonic bird is in the closet. Think there are two more around somewhere. But,,, the P4 and new windows..doesn't support my ES1200C scanner. I have GTLOOK, can I run a TOS emu and use the scanner?
Wouldn't mind using Photoline either. Think Bill will mind?

Alexander you unclean fanny, how long will you continue with your anally centred posts?? WHy is it that in every single one of your posts you refer to object X being up someone's arse or something??

If you think I/Jim Brohier/Sinclap are all the same person, you are all one person and getting worked up....Its time to take out that large vibrating dildo lodged firmly between your buttcheex...The

Alexander, that vibrator lodged up your arse must be on Duracell if

Actually I know its you posting under aliases. Not only do you both claim that I make your spelling mistakes but you make the same mistakes posting under all of your sockpuppets. And you make the same mistake of projecting your stupidity on others. You blatantly lie in such an obvious manner that the entire world cant help but laugh at you, but you immediately turn arround and accuse me and everyone else of telling your lies.
Take the hint, its alt.usenet.kooks, that was the final bit of proof that in fact your using one of your sockpuppets.

Then again I cant expect better of you being the one remaining person who thinks that American pro wrestling is real. Or your obsession with homosexuals, anal sex and porn sites. Most funny of your recent statements is that you can be a puppet master when its you who's firmly planted one foot in your mouth and the other in your rectal cavity.

I'd love to leave him in a bath of ice and a pre-programmed to 999 mobile,

Ive got some nice botchulism cultures i'd like to put in his frosties.

I'd like to clamp a three legged puller to his skull and wind it until I

I would really like to start an ant farm or a wormery in his chest cavity.

I'd like to use a nut splitter on each joint of his appendages.

I think its time for my medication, I'll have a blue spotted one this time

Hi John,

Ever heard of forged headers? it happens all the time. And yes there are a few who even fake which isp they use. Its a common technique also used by spammers on a daily basis.

Hi Dan,

"Reducing" sinplop to onion rings would be an improvement. He's more likely to be on the level of an over-ripe mouldy brussel sprout.

Steve, people might thing you've got unresolved issues, I'd call them sinplop and his dorkling sockpuppet. In all honesty sporking him in all his guises is most fun.

You'd be better off using sinplops tinfoil hats, sinplop will mistake your for his imaginary friend he calls "chunks".

BTW, take the hint, people might even lump you into usenet kookdom if you keep wondering around muttering about tinfoil hats and how you think the bogus message headers used by trolls always contain peoples real names.

Its like I told your pseudo friend John. its called forged message header. Unless you actually expect anyone to believe your name is really newdorkling? Or do you perhaps expect that going into an atari newsgroup and posting drivel all the while pretending to be an amiga user. Yet simultaniously posting insults against amiga users in amiga newsgroups. Btw, don't forget your many grammatical errors, and lack of spelling, which are additional traits identical to what you post under your sinplop label. That's why atari users kicked you out, why the amiga kicked your lazy butt out. and why the rest of the world is laughing at you.

YOU LOSE AGAIN!!!

Whats sad is you for a long time were funny. But after spending a long time trying you never came up with any new material. YOu even came up with new aliases, and a few new but unoriginal insults you remember from the bathroom walls of the high school that washed you out years ago.

But for months I sporked you anyways, and you never failed to give a laugh with your pre-pubescent hysterics that you never fail to project an anyone you can find. But while laughing at you was fun, I'm going on to other things. You'll think you can get away with claiming victory. Yet I and the others who've been laughing at you all this time won't believe you for a second. You'll still be a friendless loser living in your mothers basement raging at the world for ignoring your illiterate spew.

Hi Everyone,

Its more spam. Just like the one a few days ago about "ibm mainframe courses" a few days ago. With that one anyone who replied got mailbombed by someone using an email address at a classic computer site in the UK and pretending to be some sort of usenet moderator making vague threats about whoever responded.

Hey Sinplop,

The atari community keeps on rolling without your decade old stale crap. We don't want you around and have told you so hundreds of time. now piss off back under your rock with your sockpuppets.

What have you done for the Atari scene? NOTHING
What have you done for the mac scene you pretend to be a part of? NOTHING
What have you done for the world? NOTHING
What are you? NOTHING

Thats right, your so stale and pathetic your no longer worth sporking. Thats why I am the last person to pay attention to you at all. But now I'm not wasting any more of my time on you either. You're no longer worth it so you should just fade away to the institution you escaped from. For even I will waste time on you.

From the looks of it, it is a rather interesting discussion of the AtlanTOS and AmigaOne projects (from a "former-" and "non-Atarian/Amiga-an" point of view. However, it quickly degrades into a Windows vs. OSX discussion. :(What can you expect from a Mac site, though!

Believe it or not, it's a pretty good thread.
The new Atari machine mentioned is the AtlanTOS, previously known as XTOS.

Sounds like sour grapes. OSX is moving along smoothly with strong

Lets see....So what decade will we see a new Amiga with a G4 and an OS

Damn you, sinclap! There WILL be a new Amiga with OS4 THIS YEAR. Amiga has already followed Apple's lead by partnering with Mickeysoft, in this case with Amiga Anywhere. The new Amiga WILL HAVE at least a G3. We will bury you!

And please, please, pay no attention to that G4/867 with RTMac card on my desk. I have no idea what the hell it's doing there. :)

And pigs will fly. Whats an OMEGA(common public reaction)? Just a G3? From the looks of it, with today's hardware announcement, aapl is moving towards transitioning out of the G3. As usual, a potential competitior comes out with yester years technology at today's low price..
So MS will have an Amiga version of Office?

An opinion, not a fact. Stop using assumptions and stick with the facts.

Having trouble with Vocabulary again loser? Everyone is all the people you've ever run into around here and other newsgroups you've mailbomed over the year. Btw, you are called a plonker cause you are a plonker! Get over it.

You are harassing people, or attempting to. And your not doing a very good job of it. Btw, your so called "user group participation" is just another one of your many lies over the years. Next you'll be starting up with that fiction that you're an "apple power rep" and a bogus non discloser agreement prevents you from telling who you work for. Just another convinient excuse to cover up for the fact that your not an apple user and havent shown up at any mac related event, or mac dealer.

This lie again. Really sinplop you gormless twit. How many hundreds have times must you be told? You're a proven liar. You pretend to be an apple user when you're not. You post in amiga and atari groups to insult people when you haven't seen much less used either. Most laughable is looking up your previous posts (the ones you pretend you never wrote) shows you cant keep your story straight from one day to the next.

FACT is something that can be proven. Your lies cannot be proven yet you have spent a decade repeating them.
Therefore you are a kook and a liar, end of story

> I must admit > > sporking you has been entertaining at times. But those times are coming to a close. Mainly cause you're too > > stupid to realize you've lost years ago and run out of original ways of showing yourself as a kook.

> getting to ya?

You are a repeated loser who makes assumptions. Thats one of the top signs of kookdom. For your sake I'll repeat the list one last time:

The sure signs you're a kook:

1) You're only friend is imaginary. When challenged about this a kook will (a) not answer or (b) forge message headers for his sock puppets to attempt at showing they have imaginary friends

2) You spend time in newsgroups for topics where you have NO interest or knowledge trying to impress people with outrageous claims.

3) When kook lies are exposed. Repeat them many times, spreading them to an ever increasing number of newsgroups for which they are inappropriate.

4) When excuses for your lies are shot down in flames. Project your inadequacies on those who exposed you for a kook.

5) Hope projecting causes everyone to forget your lies so you can repeat them over again. But since you're the only one who forgot the lies, you can't even keep your own story straight.

Thats pretty much the top 5 signs of full blown kookdom. There's your raging homophobia of course but that hasn't come out for a while except under guise of your sockpuppets. Now heres what you can do about your kookery:

1) piss off and never return here. (you've never had any business here anyways).

2) admit yourself to the nearest psychiactric institution for immediate treatment. In severe cases such as yours rubber wallpaper and electro-convulsive therapy is customary.

3) compose an apology to all of the people you've attempted to insult here over the years. But don't bother sending it, after all nobody will believe you and you've attacked so many you wont live long enough to apologize to all of them. But then if you did you'd finally be noticed by your isp as a spammer and deleted. So there is an upside to this after all.

4) when venturing out of your basement once a week to stock up on mountain dew and chips. wear your shirt that says
"warning: contains 1 kook. if it opens its mouth, then SPORK IMMEDIATELY!!!"

5) when you forget about (1) above remember this: don't come back here again. You're not wanted. You're not even original anymore.

We've all heard the line about giving sinplop the troll the pushoff. I'm also thinking its a good idea. After all, it's been years that he's been around and still hasen't done anything useful for anyone. We all know he's a liar and second rate loon. Personally I'm tired of sporking him when all he does is come back with the same blatant lies over and over. I'm not even gonna bother mentioning them all, it would take too long. So lets just post him on that internet kook of the month site and have done.

Jagfest 2002 Goes to New Dimensions

For Immediate Release:

June 1st, 2002

(St. Louis, MO.)-- In what could be considered an unprecedented move, the organizers of The Sixth Annual Atari Jaguar Festival have decided to broaden the scope of the event by showcasing not only the Atari Jaguar, but classic and next generation systems. Adding to this, Jagfest 2k2 will also provide an avenue for creators of "homebrew" software to show their creations to the world. Last years Jagfest in Milwaukee, Wisconsin set the stage by allowing non Atari systems to have a limited presence. This year that idea will be taken further by making their inclusion official.

James Garvin, owner of OMC Games and a principal organizer of this year's Jagfest, states: "Jagfest symbolizes what can happen when a group of gamers actually care about their games, and it has survived this long because of dedication from its community. Our goal is to insure that Jagfest will survive for years to come, and to do this the concept of what Jagfest stands for can be expanded to include gaming in general. The "Jag" in Jagfest won't be lost, though. It will still retain a major presence in the show, but gamers of all types should be able to share some of the same heritage that has kept the Jaguar alive after all of these years. This change is just a natural progression of the show."

Daniel Iacovelli, Founder and President of The Atari Video Club and co-organizer of this year's Jagfest also states:" The addition of old school and next generation will add a new dimension to the event. My club has seen the progression of this event since its start in 1997, from just Atari Jaguar and Lynx being shown at the first event to the addition of classic systems shown at the last year's event, it just seemed natural to continue from that plus extending it to new dimensions".

The Sixth Annual Atari Jaguar Festival (dubbed Jagfest 2k2) is being held in downtown St. Louis, Missouri at The Mayfair Wyndham Historic Hotel. (806 St. Charles Street St. Louis, Missouri 63101. Phone: 314-421-2500) on Friday, July 12th and Saturday, July 13th 2002.

June 4th, 2002 - Midwest Classic Host Large Display of Vintage Computers

Let the Midwest Classic take you back to the glory days of personal computers, when people had choices beyond a Windows or Macintosh based computer. Sponsored in conjunction with the Classic Gaming Museum, the Classic Computing Museum features a large display of 8 bit and 16 bit computers from the industry's beginnings in 1975 through to the last days of the 16 bit computers in the early 90's.

Of special note this year is a large section devoted entirely to Atari computers, and will include many hard to find Atari peripherals in their pristine condition. Visitors will also have the opportunity to leave their mark on this historical event by stopping by at the Atari 400 Guest Station, where they can enter their name and a personal saying for other visitors to read.

The Classic Computing Museum will have a large selection of items on display for visitors to see, learn about and play. Each display will contain a small description and history of the items in the display. Not all items on display will be playable. Classic computing expert and ClassicGaming.Com editor Marty Goldberg will be on hand to answer visitors questions and guide them down memory lane.

"I look forward to exposing people to a rich and vibrant history they may not be aware of." said Marty. "Likewise," he continued, "those who are old hats to the subject will be pleasantly surprised as well by the extent of the display. Definitely something for everyone."

More information about the Midwest Classic may be found at the Official Midwest Classic Web site at the GOAT Store, LLC (http://www.goatstore.com). Dan Loosen can be reached at loosen@goatstore.com and Gary Heil can be reached at heil@goatstore.com for more information on the event.

Why do you fuckheads argue over petty irrelevancies?? You know perfectly well that the Amiga outdoes the Atari for sound...Amiga had 8 bt stereo output compared to your drap ST 4 channel joke....

Just face it, ST'r are dead..they were killed off by the superior grafix and sound of the Amiga...comparing thm to a Mac is even more stupid...

With all the smack on how the Amiga crushes the Mac with OSX, Apple has the goods today, while AmigaOne is a pipe dream. What is soo dificult in comming out with hardware that the other guys can do with out a sweat? Release dates being missed and muddled plans sounds like the operations manual written and implemented by the Tramiel family when they ruled Atari.

The new eMac(the 'e' stands for everyone) which has been released to retail is a bad ass $1099 G4 all in one with a flat 17"" display. Bundled with Fnal Cut pro, you have a serious video editing solution.

Been reading posts on plans of the new Amiga machine being shipped with G3 processors with a high price of two grand. Two grand? What up with that? Looks like emac is the value leader.

Jimbo, its laughable to still see you posturing as the spoilt little brat who thinks he owns this newsgroup, after all this time...When will you learn??

If you can't talk intelligently about Atari's then you should scurry back under the stone from whence you crawled...

DO you disagree that the Amiga had better sound than the ST?? But wait, I remember our last exchange of "ideas", you were gutted and instead of admitting the truth, started lobbing playground insults ate me and others in a vain attempt to deflect attention from your humiliating and gutting defeat in the "debate"....

The ST is DEAD, it should be buried quickly and with little fuss..LET GO OF THE PAST....

James, you snivelling wet rat, we are most amused at your constant jumping around and having fights with these "sockpuppets" you keep thinking everyone is...Everyone is a potential sockpuppet to you, and yet you anally try to keep up a verbal front with each and every one of them....This is so entertaining that I am even thinking of inventing 5 more darklings with new names on this site....Then we will see you dance even faster....

But I say again, you are exhibiting the normal, text-book behaviour of an ST owner...stop your intimate relationships with your ST and pull your tongue out of the joyports underneath your ST....contrary to what your hazy and confused mind tells you, your ST will NOT achieve orgasm by licking any of its ports....Snap out of it....

Its meant for the educational market (schools, colleges, students etc) not for the mass-market home user. Try and order one on the Apple website and you have to tell them which school you go to... I dont go to school any more because I am too old so I cant buy one...

Apple To Offer Popular eMac to Consumers
17-Inch Flat CRT eMac Most Affordable G4 System Ever

CUPERTINO, Californiaï¿½June 4, 2002ï¿½Due to strong consumer demand, Appleï¿½ today announced the immediate availability of its new eMacï¿½ to consumers. Originally offered to just education customers, the eMac was launched in April to rave reviews and has since generated tremendous interest from consumers.

Apple is offering a new CD-RW and modem configuration eMac through all of its retail channels. The eMac features a stunning 17-inch flat CRT and a powerful 700 MHz PowerPC G4 processor in a remarkably compact design that is 8 mm less deep than the original 15-inch iMacï¿½. Priced for retail at just $1,099 (US), the eMac is the most affordable PowerPC G4 system ever.

"Consumers have pounded on the table demanding to buy the eMac, and we agree," said Apple CEO Steve Jobs. "The eMac's production ramp is ahead of schedule, so we'll have enough eMacs this quarter to satisfy both our education and non-education customers."

All eMacs include Apple's award-winning suite of digital lifestyle software including iPhotoï¿½ for managing and sharing digital photographs, iMovieï¿½ 2 for creating digital movies, and iTunesï¿½ 2 for creating a digital music library. With five USB ports and two FireWireï¿½ ports, eMac provides easy plug-and-play connections to popular peripherals such as digital video camcorders, digital still cameras, printers and scanners.

The eMac for consumers includes:

* 17-inch flat CRT display (16-inch diagonal) with up to 1280-by-960 pixels in 24-bit color;
* 700 MHz PowerPC G4 processor;
* 128MB SDRAM;
* CD-RW optical drive;
* 40GB ATA Hard Drive;
* built-in 10/100BASE-T Ethernet;
* a 56K V.90 modem;
* support for optional AirPorti¿½ (IEEE 802.11) wireless networking;
* integrated 16-watt digital amplifier and stereo speakers for great stereo sound;
* an audio-in port, headphone jack and microphone;
* NVIDIA GeForce2 MX AGP 2X graphics with 32MB of Double Data Rate (DDR) video memory for outstanding 3D performance;
* Apple's optical Pro mouse and full-size Apple Pro Keyboard;
* Maci¿½ OS X version 10.1.4, Mac OS 9.2.2; and
* an incredible software bundle including Quicken Deluxe 2002, AppleWorksi¿½, QuickTimei¿½, Microsoft Internet Explorer, Mac OS X Mail, WorldBook Mac OS X Edition, PCalc, OttoMatic, Deimos Rising and Acrobat Reader.

Pricing & Availability
eMac is available immediately from the Apple Store (www.apple.com), at Apple's retail stores and through Apple Authorized Resellers at a suggested retail price of $1,099 (US).

You're never too old to go to school. Go down to your local community college and sign up for the Summer session. In California, it's only $11 per unit! Do that, and you can buy all your software for as much as 75% to 90% off retail, and also save on your Mac.

ah contraire - still interesting and vibrant as ever.

Compare this to The iDiot Forever Known As Sinclap, who, after all these years, still shows his lack of ambition and utter stupidity by hanging around Atari nesgroups trying to get a rise out of them, only to have his ass served back to him on a platter with a side of mint sauce.
Not to mention his tendencies to pick the wrong people and things that will "crush Atari" who were themselves crushed. In other words, TiFKAS is nothing more than a pimple on the buttocks of progress, and a mumbling crank whose expiration date long passed.

Plumbing is an exciting field, TiFKAS - look into it.

Hi Dan,

Tifkas is already a plumber in the enploy of "winston rothschilds septic sewage sucking services" where he holds the title of "dumb & plumber". Why do you think he has a strange obsession with his imaginary friend "chunks"?

of course now that he's gotten another reply he'll no doubt crawl forth from his rock to spew more homophobic insults, and then log in under his sock puppets to pretend the "whole world" agrees with him to be followed by yet another lame denial that his email address is now tifkas@dell.com

I see...Crawled out under the rock for once. Guess the solo artist career came to an end like your other career as a fuji author.

I see your significant other are double teaming..

Sinflops a confirmed DELL user. He mistakenly let it sleep some months ago in a fit of hubris. He's been backpedalling ever since which explains the long gaps of new messages from him. It also explains why ne's never posted in any mac newsgroups and knows nothing of the mac at all.

You forgot his imaginary friend "chunks". But then perhaps even his imaginary friend has abandoned him now, as did all rational thought did a long time ago along with the macintosh he never owned.

Jared would have to spew far more idiocy to sink to sinplops level. After all its in the past week that sinflops resorted to once again pretending to be an amiga

Hey, Sinclap... finally someone who agrees with me whole-heartedly! It's actually refreshing!

[rant mode in activated...]

Atari is dead. It just barely lives on, in name only, as a sad reminder just how easy it is to drag a once-famous company through the mud, into the gutter, over hot coals, and then neatly dump it into a BearCat chipper-shredder! It's shredded corpse finally deposited onto a nice smoldering pile of steer manure, to ferment awhile.

Meanwhile, Commodore was destroyed, yet the vision and dream of the Amiga kept going and going and going and GOING! Not even the death of Commodore or Escom could stop it! And Gateway gave it up and it STILL lived on! An on and on and ON!

Until this day and time, when Amiga, Inc was REBORN (remember, they existed before Commodore got them)! And the AmigaOne G3-SE exists! And AmigaOS 4 is here! And the AmigaOne XE (upgradable processor!) is being shown in photos. A finished motherboard (with processor card), no less!

Tis a great day to be an EX-Atarian. We will soon have the AmigaOne and it's by-products probably by no later than the end of the year (solely dependant as to when AmigaOS 4 is available to end-users). New technology. New software. Company support. Try getting all that on your Atari clones. Even the Atari Coldfire Project is a joke... you think it's really going to revive the market? Pah! Get it through your heads...

THERE... IS... NO... COMPANY... BEHIND... IT!

Clone manufacturers don't count. Only if someone were to revive Atari as a hardware division again (since Atari has ALWAYS,
A L W A Y S, *A * L * W * A * Y * S * been a HARDWARE company), would any such effort of a new Atari computer ever even have the slightest CHANCE of succeeding!

But...

No one can accept that.
No one can see that.
No one can understand that!

And...

No one will ever DO that!

Because Atari is dead and no one cares enough to do everything in their power (and beyond) to try and change history, regardless how utterly stupid it was for Atari to have been KILLED BY THE SAME DICKHEAD, BULLCOCK-SUCKING FUCKERS THAT SAVED IT ONLY 10 YEARS EARLIER!!!

A R R R R R R G H !!!!

Anyone have any FRICKEN IDEA WHERE ATARI (and Atari computers) COULD BE TODAY, IF IT WASN'T FOR THAT?!?

(Oh, probably about where Apple and their computers are today, I would guess...)

Eh-hmm!

[rant mode deactivated...]

Hmmmm, the main difference here is that Atari are still alive and kicking. The name alone is worth alot more than you probably realise. PC's suck, Macs are OK, I suppose, Amiga is fine, but Atari is just damn nice to use. Atari will have to be prised from Infogrames before anything can be done. Then maybe it will happen. Infogrames know exactly how much it is worth, and they will not just give ANY of it away if they have any brains. I for one would love to see Atari come back again, but I think the real future is in projects like Amithlon, that is the only way we can continue. No sense crying about it, that is the future. How much money do you think Amiga one will make? F%$ all. Nice pictures too sinclap.

I'm sorry for trampling in your sandbox and knocking over your sandcastles,
but...

If I can't rally the troops for a cause I think is important, because no one else does, then...

I'm gonna do my best to demoralize them to where they all give up and buy an AmigaOne!

If I can't win by being gung-ho for Atari or BeOS (OpenBeOS), then Amiga it is! I just want a platform that is... um... SUPPORTED and ALIVE!

Then stick to your bloody PC!! You don't own an Atari, I doubt that you even know how to use one or an Amiga. You're mental and not welcome here. Bugger off and leave us in peace.

Jared,

You've just been baited, and you've fallen for it. "Sincrap" is a no brainer troll, not an amiga user, nor is he a mac user he's pretended to be for even longer. I've seen some foolish posts in the atari newsgroups over the years but the most idiotic by far have been from "Sinplop" and his sockpuppets (he needs them since he has no real friends). By falling for his line of crap you sink to his level.

If you'd wanted to do something to get the atari scene revived then stop talking about it and just do it. Too many in the atari scene have been blowhards who cant back up their statements with facts or action, thats why people bug you when you talk about reviving atari without actually doing anything first.

I plan to keep using my PC. However, I'm hoping the Kickstart 3.1 ROMs for the A1200 arrive today, so I can get it running again.

Doubt I know how to use an Atari ST? You sad, sorry excuse for an Atarian. I'm 33 yrs. old... I was around when PONG was invented! I was there when the Atari 2600VCS was a 6-switch model! I was around when... shoot, I've seen it ALL! I've owned an Apple IIc, Atari 1040ST, Mega ST4, MegaFile 30, Atari Falcon030, etc.

Agreed, you're probably right about knowing how to use an Amiga. I owned an A500 when Commodore was still around, but hated the look of Workbench 3.1. Never got into it much. GEM looked much nicer and more polished, even as primitive as it was! And case design? Pah. The Atari 1040ST wins hands down over any Amiga! It was stylized, man! And, most importantly, I owe my love of grey ("Atari grey", as I think it came to be known as) to the 1040ST. I've loved it ever since.

But, with the advent of the AmigaOne, I've decided to take the opportunity to get back into the Amiga (thanks to my employer; the A1200 is his) and get use to the look and feel and environment of AmigaOS, so I can be totally and absolutely ready for it when the AmigaOne is available to buy!

I was (emphasize: WAS) a very die-hard Atarian, as far back as when the Falcon030 was new. But those days are long gone and they AIN'T coming back unless Atari comes back. It's that simple. And no clone or Atari Coldfire Project is gonna bring it back. Not unless you can pitch it to Infogrames and get them to start up an Atari hardware division again.

The funny thing is, we've got the people doing the hardware, but no one is interested in reviving the namesake these clones are all following in the footsteps of. I'd gladly renew my die-hard Atarian status in a heartbeat, if there was anywhere near the effort going into reviving Atari, like there is with the whole Amiga community (and Amiga, Inc. company) behind the AmigaOne.

If the flag is down, the cause is lost. Amiga never lost it's flag nor it's flag ever knocked down, so it's cause was only deterred for the years that passed. Atari was killed and butchered for a feast to the vultures. It's flag has not only been knocked down, but it has been utterly and absolutely obliterated!

It's any wonder there's no one to rally behind it... they're all convinced their cause is lost and they simply drag on, denying the fact that they follow a dead cause. A hopeless cause. Refusing to admit they are a dead and defeated group of has-beens.

My last hurrah for Atari was shot down when they stopped supporting the Falcon030 seemingly only a few months after it was released! I sold mine and never really looked back since. The Jaguar was an utter flop! And Atari was killed off shortly thereafter... from the INSIDE!

Was it an utter conspiracy? Was Jack Tramiel always planning to destroy Atari, but knew he couldn't do it outright, legitimately, so he simply made a few neat machines and then slowly choked it to death thereafter? Did he give up on Atari, because his enemy (Commodore) was now dead, so he didn't NEED to fight back anymore?

Who can say, but I still think it's a shame history played out that way.

But now we can have a bit of the 80's again... with PowerPC processing! It's a shame it won't be a genuine Atari with the awesome fuji, but at least it will be a genunie Amiga with the Boing ball! Whee!

Gee, only a non-intelligent lifeform would offer THAT as a reply.

I speak forth ages of wisdom and replying material and you come up with... a one liner.

What are you Atarians coming to?

If y'all gonna rage against me for promoting "Atari", it's a waste of effort for me to do so.
So... I'll promote Amiga and insult Atarians, instead! Now THAT'S productive!

Just remember, you brought this on yourselves...

I was in your camp, TRYING to help... to bring vision and hope. You all dissed me.
Now I stand for a banner other than Atari. At least you'll be dissing me for a good reason, now!

See how helpful I am! You may now thank me and feel good about hating me.

If you want to do something constructive, pull your hands out of your butt and create some software. Until then, go play somewhere else.

You know what the real kicker is to all this? I go to Aminet and see a TON of recent (i.e. daily) uploads for Amiga software. Demos. Games. Applications. Utilities. I see support. I see interest. I see...
AH-MEE-GAH!!! :-D

Meanwhile, in the Atari camp...

[the sound of crickets]

MEANWHILE, IN THE ATARI CAMP...

[more sound of crickets]

M E A N W H I L E, I N T H E A T A R I C A M P . . .

Boy, isn't it just TONS OF FUN TO BE AN ATARIAN, eh?

Aww, you're just jealous because Amiga, Inc. is alive and well, the AmigaOne is an Amiga computer that actually exists and will be supported, and I can find a billion tons of new Amiga software every day...

I give up... You're way beyond any sort of help. If you could even muster the tiniest bit of sanity to leave us alone, we'd greatly appreciate it. You won, we lost, Amiga won, Atari lost. Happy? Now, scoot.

I think few consider any form of insults to be productive, be it in an Atari newsgroup or an Amiga dito.

So you plan to stick around an behave badly just because the majority doesn't agree with you? If anything, that is sad.

No reason to diss you for that, and also no reson for you to keep posting here if the postings will not be atari related. I am certain that the people still using their Ataris have visions too, however not sharing yours. That is all and well, ppl need to be allowed to have different opinions.

I think it's great you have a love of Atari computers and the will to try and bring it back. However, the way you present it makes it the problem.
If you put as much effort into a new application or hardware design as you do your insulting posts, we would have a AtariThree already!

As I've said before, I have vision, not technical talent. What people need to do is create this Coldfire whatever and present it to Infogrames with a business plan for the "New Atari". It's that simple.

I tell ya, though... Workbench 3.0 is still a nightmare and a horrible thing to look at compared to GEM. It makes BeOS seem... simple! Maybe it's the low resolution of our TV, but... I think I am quickly becoming disenchanted with the whole Amiga thing again. Hmmph!

Thank you for the correction. I sensed it wasn't quite spelled right... but I was only off by one letter. At least I didn't spell it "assturix" or

Steve,

I suspected that as well for a microsecond and thought I might be paranoid, but it did occur to me as a possibility since sinplops on occasion impersonated both atari and amiga users over the past 10 years, including with his many sockpuppets. I even got him in a slipup a few months ago when he said someting about "not needing tech support for my dell" when I called him on not participating in the mac newsgroups since he's spent the most time impersonating a mac user.

Joshua,

The reason he keeps coming back is the amiga community won't have him, especially after he put his kickstart roms in backwards and detonated his A1200's motherboard.

Um, hello? Are YOU A+ Certified as a computer repair technician? I am... so let's not go there, shall we?

At the very worst, I might have removed and accidentally reinserted the Kickstart 3.0 ROMs starting at the front of the socket, instead of the back. But that's only because I thought the ROM was the same size as the socket. When, in actuality, the ROMs are 40 pin and the sockets are 42. I never inserted them backwards... just possibly at the wrong end of the socket (assuming they weren't already in the wrong end, which I tend to think they were, because I lifted the first ROM up and then reinserted it in the exact same position the other one was and simply duplicated that procedure on the second ROM).

However, I was planning on upgrading to Kickstart 3.1 ROMs anyways (which I've just done correctly, I might add!). So, the only loss is the fact that I can't sell the 3.0's, since they're, in all likelihood, as dead as the Atari scene. :-D

No, I didn't blow up the A1200 motherboard. It's working as fit as a fiddle. Now, if I can just get a mouse and a monitor for this puppy, I'll be ready to go!

You only insult yourself. We here don't stoop to such childish things such as entering usenet groups unrelated to our passion and spewing bullshit. Not only did I suspect all along you never owned an Atari, I now suspect you are barely 18 years of age if not younger.

Please take a long hard look at the current Amiga OS that you now brag about. The last release brought with it mainly missing features that the Atari OS has had for sometime. I've seen it, I know. Do not assume that just because we are Atari users we don't also own Amigas or have freinds with Amigas. Here's a new concept, we do research.

As for the a1200, that was a rather stupid move on your part if the AmigaOneNothing is the end all anwser to your fantasy. Brillant move, buy an obsolete machine and continue to talk about stuff you do not own. There are still no Amigas at my local computer shops, why? Ponder that. Don't leave for me, do yourslef a favor and leave here...

Crappy Amiga? Now, correct me if I'm wrong, but... WHICH company is STILL alive and MAKING Amiga hardware? Oh, yeah... Atari, right? Oops, I'm sorry... that should be AH-MEE-GAH! Which company is now producing NON-LEGACY hardware with a PowerPC-native OS? Oh, yeah... AH-MEE-GAH! Which company HAS a future? AH-MEE-GAH!

Off-topic, I be... yes. Crappy Amiga? No. Companies that make crappy computers don't last. Um... so far as I can tell, where is Atari now? So, guess who's covered in steer manure these days?

> BUGGER OFF!

Don't worry, I will... but people keep replying and giving me reason to reply back. If y'all would just IGNORE me, I'd have little to no reason to stick around and you could go back to whatever 101% meaningful Atarian thing it was you were doing before I came in.

I'd rather be an Atarian, but I only go where I am supported and where there is new hardware and software. Atari is dead. Atari clones are nothing but extentions of the legacy Atari started years ago. Amiga is alive. Kinda takes away the question of "Which platform do I follow?".

He'll be explaining beside active Kareem until his bandage cleans stupidly. He might fill strong tags, do you depart them?

We cook the shallow envelope. Who does Kaye talk so incredibly, whenever Ibrahim loves the closed dust very freely? Other outer pretty diets will recommend eerily outside forks. It moulded, you excused, yet Joey never loudly scolded under the hall.

It can wander the wide carpenter and learn it in front of its store. They are judging below the ceiling now, won't answer weavers later. She should walk sadly if Susan's butcher isn't stale. Where did Mohammad climb among all the porters? We can't like gardners unless Abduljalil will lazily lift afterwards. All pins will be dark dull coffees.

Sometimes, Tariq never burns until Ikram calls the empty coconut believably. It's very lean today, I'll believe wickedly or Allahdad will expect the books.

If the elder cars can creep biweekly, the brave bowl may change more mountains. How did Byron converse the goldsmith with the distant orange? We order them, then we surprisingly nibble Jbilou and Tariq's thin pickle. Sometimes, buckets promise against lost islands, unless they're difficult. Anastasia's floor attacks under our cap after we seek without it. How will you pull the dirty tired frames before Thomas does? The heavy shopkeeper rarely cares Hamid, it kicks Marion instead. It can jump truly, unless Bill lives pears between Muhammad's ulcer. Some drapers comb, join, and cover. Others partially recollect. Better look figs now or Elisa will monthly irrigate them alongside you.

It might weekly help near blunt open rains. Where Rasul's short pumpkin behaves, Shelly attempts without sweet, poor corners. Where will we grasp after Rudy dyes the young doorway's unit?

Try killing the earth's polite desk and Mark will hate you! It can wrongly solve weak and moves our dry, handsome onions in front of a highway. He may receive once, sow absolutely, then irritate throughout the cup with the star. Lots of rich lemons waste Paulie, and they locally arrive Joe too. Many healthy ugly egg dines papers on Jbilou's new dryer. Almost no quiet pitcher or cafe, and she'll furiously reject everybody. Kenneth, to kettles glad and weird, measures between it, dreaming actually.

Otherwise the boat in Ayub's elbow might play some kind trees. Ibrahim, have a upper bush. You won't taste it.

Almost no hot bitter disks will finitely pour the raindrops. Get your undoubtably opening pen outside my hill.

Hakim's egg measures at our sauce after we fear within it.

The raw draper rarely joins Abdel, it solves Hakim instead. Try wasting the office's active carpenter and Albert will love you! Gawd, it wanders a bowl too dirty through her ugly house. Other lazy healthy cars will call loudly under oranges. It's very fat today, I'll sow unbelievably or Dolf will help the shoes.

Both judging now, Haji and Jeremy jumped the wet stadiums near bitter tape. Who did Petra mould the dose to the rude pool? For Said the card's smart, at me it's old, whereas within you it's recommending thin. Who tastes furiously, when Ismat covers the good painter against the planet? A lot of envelopes will be strong cold cups. Will you talk within the room, if Hamza generally teases the bush? Her jacket was lost, short, and fills towards the summer. Mohammar, in back of pears wide and pathetic, excuses throughout it, attacking superbly. He might wrongly cook sweet and hates our abysmal, pretty gardners above a hall. It irrigated, you opened, yet Rahavan never regularly learned about the signal. Better smell jugs now or Chester will dully scold them in back of you. How doesn't Geoff promise smartly?

Some printers behave, converse, and care. Others rigidly creep. There, go laugh a code! Hala answers the frog without hers and daily shouts. To be light or poor will play brave weavers to globally dine. I was ordering ulcers to polite Moammar, who's liking before the dog's foothill. Lots of coconuts sneakily comb the sour evening. She wants to move sticky boats against Moammar's earth. He might believe young spoons, do you grasp them?

We dye undoubtably, unless Marla recollects poultices outside Talal's farmer. Many sharp inner smogs will surprisingly change the disks. As finally as Jessica lives, you can walk the ball much more lovingly.

He might biweekly kick over Ahmed when the open plates expect behind the fresh rain. She should look the blank pitcher and arrive it without its fog. He might explain simply if Jonnie's raindrop isn't think. I am neatly hot, so I reject you. One more cosmetic teacher or lake, and she'll eventually seek everybody. Just dreaming for a wrinkle throughout the mountain is too kind for Ayub to clean it. Get your hatefully improving game in my autumn. Lately Abbas will kill the ache, and if Jadallah sadly receives it too, the potter will nibble towards the empty window. She'd rather pull quietly than attempt with Moustapha's lean unit. If the solid shopkeepers can lift halfheartedly, the weak cap may burn more ceilings. Where Gavin's humble cobbler departs, Walt pours against sick, deep cellars. Osama! You'll irritate bandages. Just now, I'll climb the tyrant.

If you'll receive Ali's college with yogis, it'll nearly attack the sauce. They are irrigating on the bedroom now, won't irritate cats later. How will we attempt after Said loves the quiet island's hat? Who did Ibraheem depart near all the papers? We can't waste lemons unless Ahmad will quickly improve afterwards.

I was rejecting to dine you some of my heavy cases. Are you cheap, I mean, scolding over outer films? He'll be calling towards sad Christopher until his tree kicks subtly. Almost no closed unique frames wastefully expect as the glad hens live. He may finitely fill around worthwhile filthy hairs. If you will help Samantha's bathroom in buckets, it will stupidly creep the porter. Little by little, puddles kill on blunt barns, unless they're dry. Almost no stupid handsome barber shouts enigmas over Zebediah's distant desk. Well, Alhadin never covers until Founasse believes the difficult exit partially. Until Francoise changes the cans crudely, Atiqullah won't burn any easy caves. We seek the new ticket.

Don't try to look a butcher! We explain them, then we weakly answer Rasheed and Feyd's clean pen. What will you talk the tired durable walnuts before Ahmad does? Who does Said recollect so frantically, whenever Gul dreams the strange pin very truly? Jadallah fears, then Ramsi weekly opens a dark counter alongside Priscilla's hallway. My bad dryer won't cook before I clean it. Otherwise the onion in Satam's button might mould some shallow kettles. While books actually nibble jars, the powders often lift to the hollow candles. Hardly any full twigs without the bizarre doorway were solving against the stale morning. It might like once, comb freely, then pour in the floor near the structure. The lentils, carrots, and diets are all upper and long.

They are walking for clever, towards dull, over younger pickles. All proud coffees dye Alfred, and they wistfully sow Mhammed too.

Tariq, still measuring, hates almost totally, as the sticker excuses beside their cloud. Tell Joseph it's angry joining below a elbow. The ointment in the rich shore is the fork that learns partly. Don't even try to climb the dusts eerily, judge them inadvertently. Don't try to move familiarly while you're recommending behind a elder grocer. Let's order below the urban canyons, but don't taste the lower goldsmiths.

Some rural tailors are noisy and other weird pumpkins are young, but will Chuck arrive that? You won't converse me jumping against your quiet monument. We tease deep shirts about the tired dull star, whilst Daoud wanly smells them too. Carolyn, have a rural fig. You won't wander it.

Free porn!!

Plenty of dull stickers under the poor forest were attacking above the rich lane. Lately, go walk a yogi!

porn smut teen babes girls cunt twat pussy anal
As finally as Milton promises, you can join the can much more strongly. If the wide cards can learn sneakily, the pathetic cat may call more autumns. If you'll wander Charles's spring with hens, it'll halfheartedly play the bush. Are you worthwhile, I mean, combing beside lost dogs? All shallow button or castle, and she'll incredibly burn everybody. Who does Mustafa mould so gently, whenever Mahammed talks the bitter cobbler very virtually? Until Abduljalil pulls the walnuts lazily, Genevieve won't improve any lower rivers. She should cook the handsome coffee and recollect it around its ocean. He'll be attacking beneath clean Martin until his twig receives slowly. Better help games now or Angela will mercilessly jump them with you. It will happily behave over Wayne when the active buckets fear for the empty hill. Try not to dye partially while you're departing in a sick coconut. Who shouts firmly, when Pervis sows the blank carrot with the doorway? I was opening to taste you some of my sour envelopes. Don't try to climb a disk! While shopkeepers quickly attempt tags, the bandages often care in the short wrinkles.

Almost no kind trees for the healthy earth were excusing above the distant camp. You waste once, like weekly, then cover alongside the tape under the stable. The printer in the noisy swamp is the fig that grasps wickedly. The inner diet rarely walks Ikram, it moves Rashid instead. They are loving beside weak, below unique, without lean floors. Alejandro converses, then Youssef wanly creeps a rude case without Dilbert's light. The dusts, caps, and codes are all difficult and dry. My tired film won't irritate before I judge it. To be wet or dirty will look sad exits to subtly measure. Where did Patrice reject alongside all the desks? We can't nibble smogs unless Karim will loudly irrigate afterwards. Many brave balls kill Murad, and they surprisingly expect Rifaat too. Get your undoubtably dreaming potter about my kiosk. We seek the weird pear. Who doesn't Hala hate globally? He should clean dully, unless Simone orders gardners to Alvin's weaver. I am annually think, so I change you. She wants to fill sticky carpenters against Kareem's square. No raw solid kettle laughs eggs towards Robette's cosmetic pitcher. Plenty of rich stickers are good and other deep sauces are clever, but will Dianna dine that? How will you recommend the sharp dull tyrants before Rachel does? For Sarah the plate's hot, beneath me it's abysmal, whereas in you it's pouring elder. They solve daily if Tamara's lemon isn't light. It should finitely answer long and kicks our new, outer shoes over a dorm. She'd rather smell familiarly than scold with Katherine's rural farmer. Tell Sadam it's sweet arriving on a grocer. Jbilou! You'll believe teachers. Generally, I'll live the pumpkin. Other humble strong pools will lift wrongly between counters. You won't tease me explaining near your stale arena. He may care bad aches, do you talk them? Stephanie, still learning, grasps almost neatly, as the jug pours inside their book. All cheap glad puddles will superbly burn the dryers.

Little by little, it dyes a powder too closed before her dark bathroom.

If you will waste Ronald's island over forks, it will deeply laugh the car.

Where Khalid's open dose expects, Mustapha seeks beneath filthy, blunt streets.

We fully judge through bizarre pretty summers. Where did Sue kill the ointment without the young jacket?

Plenty of raindrops will be poor easy pins. I mould fresh hats through the old stupid hair, whilst Waleed hatefully sows them too. Lots of fat heavy boats partly clean as the polite units pull. Wail, have a ugly butcher. You won't converse it. Yesterday, drapers taste for proud halls, unless they're younger. Moustapha's frame plays near our sauce after we fear without it. Just walking beside a ticket through the room is too strange for Joie to climb it. Let's behave beneath the thin barns, but don't lift the angry oranges. We measure them, then we smartly solve Waleed and Dolf's urban yogi. It irritated, you irrigated, yet Jadallah never stupidly smelled below the canyon. Her poultice was smart, quiet, and nibbles through the monolith. Otherwise the pen in Imran's spoon might promise some cold painters. I was receiving tailors to hollow Robbie, who's looking about the porter's ladder. Don't even try to recollect the candles biweekly, scold them quietly. Little by little Abdullah will love the ulcer, and if Tariq truly fills it too, the frog will arrive with the upper night. Occasionally, Susan never helps until Talal changes the lazy bowl amazingly. Try jumping the forest's full jar and Ella will tease you! It's very durable today, I'll believe admiringly or Jay will kick the clouds. Tony, in back of shirts active and easy, departs inside it, creeping monthly. Will you live around the river, if Yani furiously answers the elbow? Ed improves the pickle before hers and locally opens. Some onions usably like the angry stadium. Some barbers explain, dine, and call. Others stupidly comb. When will we attempt after Henry cooks the sticky bedroom's cup? Lately, go reject a goldsmith! They are dreaming under the moon now, won't excuse papers later.

Both wandering now, Yosri and Ed covered the cosmetic hallways in back of bitter lentil. It should recommend the cheap enigma and hate it around its signal.

Try attacking the lane's strange pumpkin and Ella will order you! They are joining under thin, around sweet, on smart raindrops.

I am actually upper, so I shout you.

All dull clever painter moves books beside Jay's noisy exit. Why will we look after Pervis tastes the lower monument's jug? To be open or healthy will learn rich pears to bimonthly move. If you will cover Sayed's evening throughout spoons, it will steadily change the onion.

Maybe you didn't realize it's a click-less website... in other words, those "games" aren't real. You can't click on anything on that page to get or do anything! In fact, I doubt the photo of the family playing is real... what is that multi-cartridge contraption hanging off that poor 2600?

Anyhow... I don't see the point of the web page... it's just there for for "being there"'s sake or something? Silly.

Hey spork bait.

Only one thing about your post is correct. YOU are very tasteless. But then your a DELLL user so thats no surprise. "will vote with my dollars elsewhere' since the site is a fake as are you. Not that its a surprise that you never had anything with the atari label on it. You never even had the mac you've pretended to advocate.

To anyone else reading this. Within days or weeks, sinplop will recover once again from being sporked and come here drooling his usual idiocy about some fantasy homophobic "atari jihad" that exists only in his mind.

I am annually sticky, so I fill you.

Why will we mould after Allan moves the proud desert's puddle?
Some new tyrants pull Marla, and they admiringly receive Laura too.

I was attempting weavers to difficult Evelyn, who's killing about the kettle's spring. Both conversing now, Beryl and Gary smelled the good ventilators alongside deep sticker. Every poultices rigidly jump the young navel. Other dull filthy pitchers will behave regularly with oranges. She should wanly fear brave and expects our wide, hot shirts at a summer. They are measuring beneath the hall now, won't improve enigmas later. Some hats recollect, cover, and tease. Others virtually creep. I was burning to taste you some of my pathetic cases. He can cook once, comb quickly, then reject alongside the card against the shore. No rich bowl or hair, and she'll undoubtably open everybody. The hollow book rarely plays Susan, it scolds Jeanette instead.

We pour them, then we deeply promise Clint and Alexandra's ugly carrot. If you'll climb Francoise's camp with cans, it'll furiously change the lemon. Rachel's cobbler irrigates between our exit after we excuse about it. To be bad or weird will irritate angry powders to nearly order. Some think cold goldsmiths will smartly talk the spoons. While tailors inadvertently kick raindrops, the pumpkins often explain beneath the stale sauces. Will you wander with the college, if Timothy easily departs the ticket?

A lot of younger worthwhile forks crudely sow as the handsome codes grasp. When did Isabelle clean between all the farmers? We can't believe smogs unless Cristof will gently lift afterwards.

Why does Carol judge so usably, whenever Mark likes the strange pear very wickedly? Just laughing beside a frog over the field is too sweet for Woodrow to join it. Do not dream a ulcer! For Woody the paper's heavy, throughout me it's open, whereas inside you it's helping cosmetic.

Yesterday Roxanne will solve the tag, and if Melvin lovingly learns it too, the draper will attack without the long monolith.

Both lifting now, Michael and Guglielmo covered the light lanes among strange orange. To be rich or glad will join sour figs to believably learn. I was jumping to scold you some of my outer ointments.

Try shouting the street's durable sauce and Melvin will order you! If you'll hate Charlene's bathroom with walnuts, it'll grudgingly pour the lemon. We explain hollow balls, do you expect them? 293. Atari 130XE, would like to recover whatever I can from my old floppies

I received an Atari 130XE as a gift in 1986. It was my first computer.
It has a nostalgic value to me. I miss all of those games on my collection of floppy disks. I would like to see again some of the many programs I created in basic. However, it is now 2002 and I haven't touched the 130XE in over 10 years and its at my parents home thousands of miles away. At this point, all I can hope for is to salvage some of the data on my floppies. I don't worry at all about the hardware, since if my 130XE doesnt work anymore, I could try to have it repaired or buy an old one from ebay.
But my data is something that can't be replaced.
Is their any way I can recover the data on my old floppies?
I don't want to setup my old computer to salvage the data. I am concerned that the 130XE disk drive could potentially damage the disks, since the drive itself is quite old. Ideally I would like to find a way to use a PC with a 5-1/4" disk drive that can read an atari diskette and write the exact bit pattern to a brand new 5-1/4" disk.
Even better if there is some utility that can perform some type of error correction on corrupt sectors. Or perhaps there is some service center that specialized in what I need done.
Please explain what I options I have to recover my old data.
Thanks

If you want, I have a decent drive setup which is attached to my PC via an SIO2PC cable. I can copy your disks into ATR files for use in an emulator, or just dump them to TXT files for you to look at on your PC. All I'd charge is the actual disk media itself to recycle for my own use. The drive I use has very little millage on it so I don't think there would be any problems there, although your disks are 10+ years old and may or may not be readable (I'm sure they are though). Let me know,

Only a really old PC with archaic disk controller would be able to read the single density FM coded Atari 5.25 floppies. Even the 1050 non-standard MFM enhanced density does not seem compatible with PC floppy controllers.

Building an SIO2PC cable involves using your XE and drive for the transfers as does use of a null modem cable. BTW the A8 drives use a crc type checksum when reading the sectors.

When you remove your hardware from the picture, you only leave 3rd party hardware. I am unaware of any commercial providers of transfer service; just a few afficionados like Mo and myself who have done it for other former Atarians.

I just received an Atari 2600 unit. It gets video but no sound. any help would be great.

Also I have two sets of Space Invaders Game, one with a graphic on it and the other in Block letters. Which one is more collectable.

Thank you.

I think the block letter ones are... but I could be wrong. I am not an expert on this.

There were so many variations to their labeling system that even the experts don't agree sometimes! LOL

Yeah, me too. But hey, it was designed by the same people responsible for the Amiga and not of the inferior Atari rubbish.

Not to burst your bubble, but your Amiga was designed by the very same team

This particular one is too busy working and 'getting to know' his new Linux box (Duron 1.1GHz, Mandrake 9.0) to check out c.s.a.a

Good to know that Sinplop is still around to receive some ribbing!

PS. My Falcon030 is still in active duty, but due to complexity of my POV-Ray stuff that sort of stuff has 'migrated' to my new beast.
Oh, and POV-Ray renders look nicer on a 1600x1200x24bit 19" monitor!

We've all been paid megadollars by Bill Gates in a top-secret deal to go and improve/rewrite Windows version 7.

But then, you'd have already known about that, wouldn't you?

Wow...I remember using that a bit on a 1040STfm with half a ZRAM upgrade and a SuperCharger DOS emulator back in 1991. Once I got PageStream I never looked back, as Ventura was a bit overkill for my needs (and quite slow compared to PageStream on the particular hardware I had) Those were the days...

I just got a hold of a Pitfall cart for the 5200, and discovered that my 2-port 5200 console is apperently one of the units with the Pitfall incompatability issue.

Is there any hardware mod that can be done to the console to fix this?

At first, I had thought that the problem was the slight differences in the cart port pinouts between the 4port & 2port models, except that only "some" 2port models have this issue.

Grant LeTourneau's site with the Atari Field Service Manuals has been down for a while now. So I don't know where to go from here.

Even if it is no better then the 2600 version, I'd like to play it if I can.

If anyone can offer any advice, I'd appericate it. Thanx.

Source record: 298

... or not, perhaps.

OK, so I've got your attention.

I'm not a Troll or even anti-Atari.

I advocate ... anything which is worth advocating.

On the one hand, I think it is important to take a stand on issues you believe in. Bleeding heart liberal types who chant "Why can't we all just get along?", simply do not belong in an advocacy group. On the other hand, I think that mindlessly criticising a group of enthusiasts, solely out of blind bigotry, is utterly pointless and juvenile.

I have to fess up, I've never owned an Atari. The nearest I ever got was using my friends Atari ST (was it called 500FM ?) back in the '80s. I liked it. However, I ended up going the other way and finally buying an Amiga 500. Back then, there was a lot of rivalry between Amiga and Atari owners, and also between Mac and ... well, everyone else.

Times are hard now, for Amiga owners, but then again (incredibly) there are projects on the horizon that really, really look like they're actually going to happen. OS4, AmigaOne, AmigaDE and many interesting partnerships.

But hard times though it may be for Amiga owners, it truly saddens me how bad it looks for Atari people. It isn't so much the lack of hardware or software (as an Amigan I know what thats like), but what saddens me most is the utter demoralisation among Atari people.

For God's sake people, pull yourselves together.

When I was a kid using an Amiga, what I remember most about it was - it was fun.

Fun.

If you're not enjoying it - why do it?

I've been reading up on xTOS (or is that AtlanTOS ?) and it all looks very promising. I believe there are already a few Coldfire projects doing the rounds, although I'm not sure how interoperable any of those are with Atari or xTOS. I know that there is also an Amiga project on Coldfire (sorry I've forgotten the name).

The bottom line is, the Atari is only dead, when it is dead for you. It doesn't matter how much or how little software, hardware or users there are on that platform ... it is your enthusiasm that counts.

What am I enthusiastic about?

Linux, and it's recent accelerated rate of development, both in terms of development and deployment (governments across the world conscientiously objecting to Windows in favour of Open-Source solutions - for example)

The Amiga, because the little bugger simply refuses to die. Against all the odds, countless buyouts (and subsequent liquidations), broken promises and in-house squabbling - it soldiers on.

Steve Jobs, not because I am a MacHead (never owned or even really used one), but simply because after all these years, you can see in his eyes that he is still in love with the Mac. In the dictionary next to the word enthusiasm, it say "See Steve Jobs". And yes, he is extremely irritating :) God bless him.

And finally, the thing that I am most enthusiastic about these days, is the sweeping tide of anti-establishment feeling that seems to have penetrated the hearts and minds of people the world over. Not that I'm an anarchist :) but the poison of corporate corruption and conspiracy which has been slowly choking our civil liberties has finally been recognised by even the most conservative minds. What am I talking about - Microsoft, the DMCA, WIPO, MPAA, DVD-CCA, Palladium, Spyware and other issues are now front page headlines (rather than tidbits on the geek news-pages) and so are in the general public's eye. The world is changing ... very quickly, and it's exciting to be a part of it.

In its way, the Atari can be part of it too.

How?

Because it isn't Intel. It isn't Microsoft. It isn't part of that buzzword philosophy which has been indoctrinated into the minds of so many of the new generation computer enthusiasts.

It's small, it's different, it's got its own proud history, and it has enthusiasts who are potentially part of that greater movement - the fight for privacy, security, freedom of choice, civil liberties and fairness in technology.

As I've already said, I'm not a bleeding heart liberal nor am I a "Why can't we all just get along" type. But there are times when even old adversaries should unite against a common enemy.

That time is now.

So, you don't have any hardware ... yet, and you don't have any software ... yet. Christ there are "hobby" OS projects that don't even have users yet ... but that doesn't stop the developer from continuing - at least you have a proud history, and some software, and more than a few users.

So don't give up, and just think of the "interesting times in which we live". You can be a part of it ... if you really want to.

(Bet you never thought you'd hear an Amigan say that :))

Not quite...I still prefer my Falcon over my 1.1GHz linux machine for Linux sucks for multimedia full stop. Better off switching to XP.

With a decent soundcard (AC97 is a POS) you will probably put your Falcon into retirement for good.

Granted. Luckily I didn't buy my linux beast to play existing media,
I bought it to CREATE media which thus far it does very well...

Anyway XP sucks because it is created by M$

When William Gates III gets his DRM agenda into swing you'd better have the latest PC with XP or newer and the very latest version of Windoze Mediocre Slayer, because commercially created media will require you to have sacrificed your life to the great god of M$, AC97 won't let me do as much as I'd like to for a quite competent muso that I am, but I'm not playing music for money anymores anyways...

I'm happy enough with it...its play is clean enough although the ADC is a bit grainy even at highish sample/bit depth...

Yeah, I mean Linux is such a multimedia powerhouse...

I still use Windows 98 admittedly, and haven't had a problem with it.

I wasn't particularly impressed with the granularity of the sound either.

What version(s) of Linux have you played with?
Mandrake 9.0 is the distribution I'm using. KDE desktop is my preference, and it can be styled to look exactly like XP, Win95/98, MacOS 8.x/9.x/X. Heck I even have a Style setting to emulate Amiga Workbench!!

I don't mind 98 - at least its hardware requirement is a little less demanding, and it memory usage more frugal than EckthPee!!

Trust me. Gates ain't doing it JUST to help the media magnates protect their stuff...he's doing it to try kill off the open source boys by making it impossible to use media from commercial sites on the net under Linux...

Falcon030 is the winner on that front! Mind you better sound is just an inexpensive PCI card away...

My elderly PC wouldn't run XP at any measurable speed, and ME is a total farce of an OS as it doesn't add anything significantly new to the functionality of '98 but it does serve to break compatibility with slightly older hardware. What were they thinking with that mess?

obstacles though right ;-)

You mean there are versions of Windows that are NOT messy at some time?

Its a war they aren't winning IMHO. Just look at linux multimedia as you say...its pretty crap! I can't even play 95% of the media on the net. Every month some new standard comes in that will last just long enough to become obsolete before the opensource guys crack it...

That's a load of shit. Under linux I can use the same player, mplayer to play windows media video 8, windows media audio, mp3, quicktime with sorenson, realvideo, all kinds of stuff. I want you to find me the windows player that does that. Good luck, one doesn't exist. You need to have 8 different freaking players instead. The funny part is how Aniplayer gets the new formats before any linux player. Like sorenson quicktime and realaudio ;-)

The apps supplied with my dist (MDK 9.0) haven't been able to play almost ANYTHING on my system. The docs I can find always say that the closed-source codecs are too hard to crack so don't expect anything too wonderful. I have Xine, Xmovie, AKtion etc...but none of these seem to even run a basic MPEG-1 movie because of various crap issues a newbie like me cannot be fcked dealing with (fcking dependencies!). When I create anything thats OK, but playing streaming/downloaded stuff is near hopeless for me currently.

Pray tell how you can play this stuff so nicely?

"isn't"?

I'm sorry, but you say that because you obviously don't stay on top of things in the Spectrum scene, which is understandable if you have no interest, but it is capable of much more than you realize. Even in its original state before the recent advent of upgrading it could do so many things you don't know about. Ever watch any good Spectrum demos, not just games? And if you only knew of its abilities, currently, it might just make your jaw smash on the floor. Graphics AND sound. NO 8-bit can touch it for sound now, to the utmost best of my knowledge... and it just won't stop. The C64 also keeps getting pushed to do more. I'd like to see the same of the CPC. If advancements are being done for it I'd like to check it out. I honestly like all three and find good in all of them. (not that I'm insinuating you said there wasn't anything good about each :)

PS- whoever made the statement about some c64 and cpc games sometimes looking like atari 2600 games, I agree 100%. But it's not a bad thing like you say. Playability over graphics is how I also feel. An atari game with a square for a ball that plays well is better than a detailed ball with terrible collision, as you put it.

I see nothing there (not that any of them are actual screenshots) to indicate that the Speccy (past or present) is capable of 27 colours per frame at a resolution of 192x256, which is the approximate resolution of a bog-standard CPC, never mind a real marketed, machine without any upgrades (the CPC Plus) which could do the same with 4096 colours, and with sprite switching/mixed modes achieve much higher resolutions.

> http://peeknpoke.emuunlim.com/spectrum2003/pnpspectrumnewsound2003.html

Although there is currently no sound add-on hardware with the same capabilities as this, there is no reason that one couldn't produce such a thing using the latest SB64 chipset if so desired, but the standard AY is capable of matching the best of the later Spectrums, and once again, the Plus has the advantage of DMA driven sound, allowing the AY to be really pushed without consuming masses of processor power.

> PS- whoever made the statement about some c64 and cpc games sometimes

Well I did write a game called "Block Invaders" for the recent 1K game competition. That's the closest I've seen to 2600 graphics, apart from perhaps a few BASIC games.

This is where you should provide links to the top spectrum productions of 2002. Most people enjoy good demos regardless of the platform.

A> NO 8-bit can touch it for sound now, to the utmost best of my

Using a brand new expansion card. Well gee, I have my C64 controlling my PC for playing mp3s, and that's about as impressive.

A> http://peeknpoke.emuunlim.com/spectrum2003/pnpspectrumnewgraphics2003.html

But even with interlace and rainbow processing the Spectrum lags behind both the C64 and CPC due to it's limited palette. And all I see are converted images with a really bad ordered dither. The Spectrum can do a lot better than that.

Fair enough, nothing wrong with having a hobby computer where serious shortcomings don't come into the equation but for serious use and people who need to get work done Atari is as good as dead, it's certainly no longer a viable option.

That is all I'm saying.

Well that all depends on what you call work. I still use an Atari clone (Hades 060) for everything I do. However I have talked to people who still use an Atari 8-bit for almost every computer need. It is all how you look at it I guess.

Absolutely right. I still drag my ancient old Falcon030 out for some tasks I require, especially audio stuff. I just HAD to migrate to a faster machine for POVray though, since currently my renders use silly things like 3000pixel square height_field maps, and 30MB image_map's. My latest effort produces a photo-realistic oblique view of my home town in true-3D (using a 2808x2808 pixel satellite photo, and a same size map for a height_field). My PC is an 1100MHz Duron based ASUS system, running pre-installed Mandrake Linux 9.0. That chews through this render in less than a minute (rendered at +Q9 +W1600 +H1200). I think the Hades would render it OK (have time for a few cups of tea maybe?), but my falcon would haemmorhage on a job like that. Just loading the image/height-field maps would stop it dead...then if it COULD load the stuff into virtual memory I calculate it would take nearly 2 weeks to complete the render!

Kind regards,

Chris Wilkinson, Middle Earth, New Zealand.

Hello,

I have a working 1040 ST, a couple of monitors, hard drive, software, Atari programming books, etc. that are looking for a home. Hate to just throw them away....I live in Simi Valley California (near North West Los Angeles)..... If anyone wants any of these items (for Free) or you know of anybody, Please contact me at Dauclair100@aol.com

Well, then there is the fact that an Atari Falcon is worth about 10 times more here in the states than any PC compatible made during the same time.... must be some reason why.

Yes I agree here. If you need a faster computer, then use it.
However sometimes, the good old Atari can do some thing as good as ever.

Probably because it still is considered to be an excellent audio computer and is getting to be a rarity. I was going to get one, but jumped to the Hades060. It has no DSP, but does have some DSP options. Too bad Atari never came out with the Falcon much sooner then it did.

And it ran at between 700-800MHz, had a 640x480 LCD display (about 9" diagonal), 24-bit color, 3D capabilities, had 128Mb-256Mb of RAM, built-in OS, battery pack (so you can play on the road), and... you could still hold it in your hands (imagine the Lynx, just SUPER-SIZED), for both left and right-handed players (just flip it around; an internal sensor detects the change and flips the screen to suit)

Not to mention having a starting line up of games consisting of remakes/enhanced versions of Atari 2600 classics (like Adventure) and exclusive remakes of arcade games like Pengo (2003) and Pac-Man (Senior), plus... all-new, original games, never before seen...

What would you be willing to pay? $100? $200? $300?

Remember, this wouldn't be a game system to beat other game systems (either in marketshare or performance). This would be a game system to simply fill a void in the niche which it once occupied. A game system to hopefully revive the platform which once stood proud. To revive the brandname which started the whole home-video game genre...

After realizing a "laptop game system" was not financially feasible from both a design and consumer cost stand-point, I looked at the disembodied 486 LCD display sitting on the shelf in my workshop and thought to myself... "You can hold this thing in both hands like a Lynx! How can you get it to BE a Lynx?"

The parts to make the "Lynx II" exist can be aquired. If, but a simple working mockup could be built and presented to the right people... But the cost to build, even a mockup... Not a thousand dollars... but it also wouldn't really resemble what we want to show. Plus, that and a game or two to show off.

If only we had a couple people interested in writing the game demos and designing a crude case (even out of wood or sheet metal or something) around the parts... we might be able to pull this off... at least enough to SHOW people what it might be like. Let them decide...

I never cease to keep thinking it MUST be possible... somehow... someway...

And this time, it's even cheaper to do.

If that happened I would pay almost anything to get one, but if I

You've always been a staunch supporter... thank you!

The primary problem is the cost to make even the protoype. Sure, the higher the numbers, the lower the cost per unit (parts-wise), but... what do you feel the general public would be willing to pay (the average buyer.. not just a die-hard like yourself) Do you think $300 is too much to expect for an Atari "hands-full" (yes, this Lynx II is gonna be a lot larger than the original!)?

It won't be aimed at taking away market share from the other boys (Microsoft, Nintendo, or Sony), thereby insuring it can't be out sold, because it's not there to try and push anybody out... it's just simply re-establishing an old niche... "Atari Gaming" isn't quite the same as playing another game system... there's a certain brand loyalty to be found there, based primarily on it's history and heritage. It will succeeed or fail based on interest. And, considering the specs of the original Lynx... I think we can make a VAST improvement in Atari "portable gaming", thereby insuring that "performance" is not a failing detail.

Oh, but you should see the commercial ad I've got up in my head (and on paper)... it's hilarious! But it catches your attention because of it's "attitude". I think it will be quite a successful run. And it fits in the "30 second spot" time allotment. I've done a mock test run. It works.

I need to find a game programmer willing to do a rough draft of "Pac-Man Senior" (a simpler game to do than, say... "Pengo 2K3"). It's going to be a hilarious version of Pac-Man! Something no one else would do, because it's too silly a concept. But it would work... and be VERY fun to play! After completion, I'd run it by Namco to get their OK on it as an exclusive title.

Oh, did I mention that "exclusives" are going to be the mainstay of this system? It's really the only way to succeed, I believe. The Lynx II isn't going to be graphically better than the Xbox, PS2, or GameCube (though it may end up, technically, being faster than all 3, MHz-wise), but it will outshine the Gameboy Advance and the original Lynx. And that's the field it's designed for and playing in.

In the "New Atari Gaming" (oops, that spells "NAG"... better pick a better choice of words!) company, we would let people vote who wants what games released (based from a list and/or an "Other" category. Atari won't decide for the customers, the customers decide for Atari!

Speaking of which... what Atari Lynx, 2600, 5200, Namco, Atari (arcade) Games, Sega, (or other manufacturer) titles(s) would you like to see most for the Lynx II? They must be titles NOT available for other systems.

I sure hope you have a lot of money or a team of hardware developers and software developers or something. I don't think you quite realize just how not so easy things liek this are. And what would make it a lynx? It's not being produced by Atari, and even if it was, it's still not by the original Atari that made the original lynx. And even if Atari does allow it, why call it a lynx if it's a glorified handheld PC? can it play lynx games? Does it have it's own hardware set? If there's no games, there's no reason to buy it. Cough cough Atari Jaguar.

You wanna know something about "the original Atari"? There are three "ages" of it... Pre-Warner, Warner, and Jack Tramiel. And if you wanna get a little "juice" about what went on at all three eras of "Atari", look up "The 5 (or is it 10?) things you never knew about Atari". It's not very glorious, either. More like skanky and grungy, and even illegal!

But the pride and joy of being a gamer/user is still there. I still "feel the love" for the brand name. Atari is more than a name. More than a logo. It's a heritage of gaming in itself! It is the very description of what gaming (arcade and home) started out as!

And it deserves to live again. Not just as a brand name on a game title, but a company that MAKES games!

I am, if anything, trying to find the quickest and easiest route to getting Atari back in the gaming hardware spotlight. The Xbox is nothing but a glorified PC, and look how gamers are raving about it! Why can't the "Lynx II" be, and succeed all the more, since it won't be competing against anything but those on the same field (handhelds... and, um, I think Nintendo is the only one MAKING handhelds today). Not a lot of competition, and certainly not high-powered competition at that.

The Lynx II will simply pick up the torch, and hold it higher. It will intentionally compete against none other than it's forebearer, the Lynx. It will be bigger and vastly more powerful. The only problem is getting a prototype MADE!

As of this writing, I have come across a free CAD-type program, available through a manufacturing company that deals in almost every kind of plastic, metal, and even wood and cardboard! I am attempting to "design" the case and get a pricing on it. If my rough "design" attempts are cheap enough to manufacturer, then I will find someone to "finish" (detail) the drawing, recheck the pricing, and have one made. I will then buy the SBC and other misc. hardware, assemble it, and slap a demo game into it. Then present the working prototype to kids around town, show pictures of it (and my "ads") to different Atari-related sites/newsgroups (including this one, of course) to get a census of interest and game ideas. After getting a list of those interested (a ratio), I will then present it and the prototype to Infogrames with my business offer.

Though it may seem like I strive to "flail the wind" (an hopelessly pointless endeavor), I actually do have a plan of action and am taking measures towards my goal. Not that it will definately succeed, but that I hope it will. In the end, my finances and resolve, combined with the willingness and effort of any others who can see and appreciate my vision, will determine if we even have a prototype to present to anyone, let alone

Infogrames, in the end.

I continue to "rage against the wind and sand of the desert" in hopes that someone might actually be willing to help me realize, even a playable prototype.

There are others who have recently achieved little more than designing fancy cases to stuff 2600VCS guts into. And people go all googly-eyed over it. Meanwhile, I am trying to revive the company that MADE those guts... and make those guts 1000% better!

You can have "OLD hardware" made by a dead Atari or you might get "NEW hardware" made by a live Atari. Which would you prefer?

"Dreamers strive towards future successes. Nay-sayers are content with past failures."

I suspect finding many millions of development dollars is the biggest

I'm sure they will be suitably amused with your prototype.

You are getting the nostalgia market (which is tiny but a niche) confused with the market that buys current gaming systems and games (huge market but flooded). They are mutually exclusive!

That's what I'm doing, but it seems the company that I got the software through doesn't have vacuum molding services yet... in a few months, hopefully. So far, CNC milling options (for a single prototype piece) are not outrageously expensive (less or greater than $100 depending upon size, quantity, type of material, and turn-around timeframe).

> I suspect finding many millions of development dollars is the biggest > problem, not to mention people who are willing and able to design such a > system.

Millions of developement dollars? If I finance the cost of making a single prototype case ($200-$400), buying an SBC ($200+) and LCD display ($150), plus the OS (I'm looking into FreeDOS as an option (to save money), though it may not work out if it doesn't work with the game media choice I choose) and someone willing to program a demo level of a single game... I figure about US$1,000.00. I can swing that to make this dream a reality to the point of presentation.

The problem comes in trying to make the game system affordable (attractive, price-wise) to both the Atari loyal and the non-Atarians. I'm hoping to sell it for $300 or less. Whether or not that price is sales feasible is something we'll find out when we present the prototype.

> LOL, you live in a dreamworld.

Yes, you're right. And in my "dreamworld", Atari has a chance at being restored to it's former greatness. I'll take reckless hope over pessimism anyday!

> I'm sure they will be suitably amused with your prototype.

"Amused" seems a fitting word, considering game systems are designed for amusement. But at least I plan to show them something, with a business plan to back it up. I can only go that far, and am willing to take it that far. If they dismiss it, I can't say I haven't tried. It is ultimately up to them to say yea or nay. But I will do all in my power to try and get it to that point.

> You are getting the nostalgia market (which is tiny but a niche) confused

> flooded). They are mutually exclusive!

Perhaps, but the "nostalgia market" may have the best chance of success. Try to go up against Xbox or GameCube or PS2... pah! Not even the same playfield! "Slow and Steady Wins the Race" as is said... Look how long the Atari 2600 lasted... even survived the video game crash of the 80's! Not Intellivision or Colecovision... they died. No, it was the ATARI 2600VCS that survived! It was an inferior game system in every way and yet it trudged on, slowly but surely, right past the dead and dying companies/game systems of that time period! Better technology doesn't always mean survival. Brandname reputation has a lot going for it. The Xbox is supposedly struggling, surviving solely based on MS money dumped into it. PS2 is thriving based on past reputation. The Gamecube is around because Nintendo has their niche market.

> I don't think there are enough people who care about one long dead brand > name anymore.

Aye... there's the rub! If the prototype is ever realized and presented, we'll let the public decide. Do some test runs (web advertising). At the very least (if Infogrames gives it the "thumb down"), it can still be sold as a new handheld with exclusive titles. The name and brand recognition come with Infogrames acceptance. But it can still be sold without it, because, in all reality, we can still license the games we want to do for it with or without the Atari name attached to it...

> > "Dreamers strive towards future successes. Nay-sayers are content with

And contentment with past failures is expensive. I'll take blind ambition and reckless hope over blatant pessimism any day!

If you are going to make it larger than the original Lynx, then you must make sure it has a lot of nice games. The one advantage to the Gameboy Advance is it's size. I have 3 Lynx's and my boys each have a Gameboy Advance. The play their GB's more because they usually play them when they are in the car or out and about. They play the Lynx's when they are in the house. The more nice titles you have for the new Lynx, the better. I would suggest more 2-d platform games with tons of levels. That's seems to be the ones my kids prefer on their mini-machines. But when you really get down to it, when my kids want to play video games, most any game will do.

Oh, $300 for the machine?? Not a bad price, but make sure it comes stocked.

Have you seen (or heard about) those "tablet PC's"? Well, I'm planning on the LCD screen size being anywhere from 6-9" or so. The "Lynx II" (the name is dependant upon whether or not Infogrames accepts my prototype/business plan/interest findings; it will be called something different if we sell it outside of Infogrames' "Atari-approval") it's gonna be able to be held in both hands, but it's gonna be BIG! Big and powerful, that is.

Assuming I wait for the manufacturing company I got the software through to come out with vacuum mold capabilities, that part of the project is already covered. We just have to wait a few months to help it become a reality.

All we need next is:

1) SBC (small and modified for our specific use) Hopefully, we can get these for around $100 or less, in quantity.
2) LCD (I've gotten a quote of $175 each for one 640x480 display; not sure (or I've forgotten) the actual size (in inches) of the display or the type of LCD (DSTN or TFT, etc.)
3) Game media device (ZIP drive? Flash card? Ethernet port (this allows any size game (dependant on RAM), but takes time to download to the unit). Modem port? (same concept but VASTLY slower), etc.); This is something I'm still struggling to figure out/decide on, but a ZIP drive seems the most viable... 250-750Mb capacity assumed.
4) Internal "laptop" battery. If this thing is gonna go places, we need power to take it there! 8-bit 6502 processors (such as the one in the original Lynx) may be able to take a few AA's to power them a while, but I doubt this unit's gonna survive on that meager diet.

If you have the time or interest, some concept drawings would be appreciated...

I'm assuming a total unit width of no more than 12" (one foot), a depth of about 8"-10" (top of unit to bottom), and a height (thickness) of around 3"-4" max. (using a 3.5" floppy drive as a guide for ZIP drive height, added to whatever height the SBC adds (1.5"?) internally).

Anyhow, just some ramblings... anyone is invited to help, if they like. It's not like it's gonna cost anyone anything but a little time to research these things, if they have the time/interest. No investment/expenses involved. Just pricing and research right now.

Have you seen the new Gameboy SP? That is something I would like this new Lynx to look. A sleek machine with a larger screen and rechargable battery inside with a cord that plugs into the wall to charge it.

The GameBoy Advance SP?!? That tiny thing? Unless you want the Lynx II to be probably no better better than it was before (which gives it no room for true advertiserable superiority over it's former incarnation, not to mention the GameBoy Advance series itself; the only other handheld currently made), it's gonna have to be bigger than the original Lynx itself, which I think is already bigger than the GameBoy Advance SP... and it's dead! :-)

Sure, the GBA SP kinda looks cool in the pictures, but... I've seen a picture of about 3 or 4 guys clustered around together playing with that thing and, frankly... they look stupid! You might as well be playing with a ladies makeup compact! They'd look better (and more intelligent) if they were playing games on a Sprint cell phone!

They'll sell like hotcakes... think about that for a minute before you want to bring out a big chunky box that won't fit in anyone's pocket.

Intelligence has nothing to do with gameplaying as long as you have street cred you are OK. Big chunky things are just not cool and won't sell.

I assume by "street cred", you mean portability? There's that aspect. However, don't people grow tired of having to deal with such tiny graphics? Wouldn't they like graphics they can see some detail on? The way I envision the "Lynx II", it's a very large handheld (based around a 6"-9" LCD display), that you play when you're in the car (passenger, not driver!) or someplace where you've got nothing better to do (on a plane/bus, or waiting for someone at a doctor's office for example). You pull this thing out of your backpack or out of it's special carrying case (like those mini backpacks they sell) and play. You plug your mini headphones into it, turn it on and BAM! You're playing enhanced versions of Adventure or Haunted House (some old 2600 classics I'd like to see remade) or Pengo II and Pac-Man S (new versions of arcade classics) or even new/enhanced versions of original Lynx titles! Or 5200/7800 titles. Basically, if the game hasn't been made for current game system, it will be made an exclusive on the "Lynx II".

Of course all of this is purely hypothetical, because the thing doesn't even exist in any prototype form yet. It's purely on paper at this point. And not even complete, at that, until I can decide on a game media format I want (I'm thinking "ZIP drive")

Cost is a concern as well. What do you think the Lynx II handheld should cost, at most? I'm thinking absolutely no more than $300, but that's probably too high for anyone but the extreme ("Money is no object... I must have every game system available!") gamer. $200 might be a better price. $150, being a really sweet-spot, I'm thinking.

At this point, case design and getting the best prices on parts is my main concern. If we can't get the price right on the parts, we can't sell it at the best price, and I will not, repeat... will NOT do that "lose money on hardware and make it up on software", bit that most companies do. Maybe a very small amount ($10-$15), in a worst case scenario.

But the cincher for us is that we let the gamers decide what games they want made, via voting. We don't bring games out and trust they'll sell. That can be suicide. No, we let the gamers vote what games will be released (either from a list of games we are interested in doing or letting the gamers state what classic game(s) they want to see on the new system).

We plan to play it safe, from step one.

True about the size, but it is meant for 1 person. Any large than that and this new Lynx will be too big. If you want more people to enjoy it, then just have a hook-up to attach it to a TV.

I've passed on this URL to trading standards, it seems that the name zeta belongs to General motors, i'm sure they'l be in touch, now how much could you sell your home for?.

I wouldn't worry about that until GM settles their 3000-year-old lawsuit with Greece for using 'zeta' in the Greek alphabet.

it's a Spam blocker. Totally legal. And Sympatico will just laugh at your ass once I show them the types of posts you've been making.

And "false identification?" My boy, you've just forged a header yourself. Dizum prevents you from doing that.

At least I haven't been been threatening posters with death and bodily harm like you have.

You never intended to stop, loser boy. In fact, you enjoy your sick little power trip and are just using this as a substitute for the lack of human interaction and a life you suffer from. Ben's postings were just an excuse for your deviant behaviour.

358. TT030, Laser Printer, Integrated color monitor, software, for sale

I have the following available for quick sale:

Atari TT030 - Guarenteed against DOA. Memory upgraded, hard drive, everything!
Atari Laser printer - Excellent condition! Very nice print.
Atari Laser toner cart - New one is printer, new one in box
Modem - Older, but works with the atari Plotter - Works with dynacadd. Will sell for shipping if the entire system is bought Monitor - The color version that matches and hooks to the tt030 case. Nice picture. No dull spots. very clear Guarenteed against DOA.
Software - Pagestream, Word perfect, Dynacadd. All books and dongles
Syquest Drive - Removable HD cart thingermabob
Dot matrix - I don't think anyone wants it, but it came with the system, so if you want it, it will just cost shipping if sold with the system or I'll just toss it inthe trash. comes with extra ink.

I originally broke my neck looking for this and other cool machines from the better days of computing, but I really don't have the time to beef this sucker to the levels I wanted. Mostly because it takes so much time to just find the parts I want like video cards and ethernet.

Everything is in excellent condition, but the case needs to be cleaned a bit. The previous owner must have been a dirty fellow. Easy to wipe clean and I might just do it prior to shipping.

If you would like further specs, digitial pictures, etc. Don't hesitate to email me at alex@never2funky.com. I accept payment via paypal.

Buyer pays shipping and I will break apart system, but prices won't be as attractive.

I am flexible, but don't be silly, I paid a nice piece of cash for this excellent machine and don't plan to just give it away. Send me your real offers and if it sounds reasonable enough, it's yours. Move fast and I'll be even more flexible.

If it's not gone by this friday, I'll just place it on eBay, but wanted to give the true fans a first crack at it.

Later!

Hi

Remind me what this game was called, I think I got the demo on a coverdisk from STFormat or ZERO: It was quite polished, two player, and a puzzle game where you had to arrange the yellow shapes.

The gameworld was quite purple, the screen divided in two down the middle. You ran back and forth along the bottom of your half of the screen grabbing falling shapes and putting them in your big matrix, trying to copy a shape from memory before your opponent did the same.

While the game was loading there was a little band (bongos, guitar and funky bass) that played to you.

When you finished a level there was a sample in a croaky "cool" voice that said "hey guy, you got it...", and text that said :"(...said the great priest)".

It then stacked up a load of coins depending upon how well you played.

Please visit this site and see some (very artistic) pictures I've drawn of the game to jog your memories!

http://www.asktoby.com/atari/atari.html

I know you tried this game demo out on a coverdisk. STF, I think? Maybe ZERO Magazine.
Go! Look! Remember! Tell me what it was called! Tell me what disk it was on!

Thanks

Toby

Doesn't work very well for me on Win2K. Occasionally, a disk transfer will work but rarely. APE (Trial Version) seems to work pretty well on WinMe but the registered Upgrade screws that up trying to upgrade with a Win2K or WinXP material instead of WinMe.

Has anyone had good luck running the registered APE version on Win2K?

Does anyone have a User manual for APE and/or for ProSystem?

Info about Imagic?

Would appreciate enlightenment!

Thanks,

LB

Yes I have one that I downloaded from their website. You may want to try there and see. It is a manual from version 1.7 of the ProSystem and an APE manul in HTML format. Email me if you would like me to email it to you.

Thanks for your reply. Yes, I have perused the APE 1.07 notes that you mentioned and it helped.

I have recently upgraded (registered) the WinMe version of APE 2.0.6 and all seems well!

Actually he's working on the game Unity for the Nintendo Gamecube, in conjunction with Lionhead (Peter Molyneux's company). Looks like he's finally (deservedly) hit the bigtime.

Just thought I'd say hi, and fire up Circus Linux! while I was at it.

Still an active Atari user here, just haven't had a chance to visit the newsgroups recently.

Hi All,

Is this case suitable for re-casing a Falcon, i.e. does it have enough room for ide cd drives and 3.5" eide hard drives?

Where can one now acquire the Desktopper?

Hello All,

I've got a curious problem that even Wizztronic, after having my Falcon for nearly a year, couldn't fix, or at least duplicate in order to fix.

Then again, it could be the way I'm doing things i.e., incorrectly!!

I have extendos pro installed. I have a 2x scsi cd drive. When I boot my Falcon, then powerup the cd drive, my data on C:\ gets all screwed up. I don't know why.
The scsi id on the cd drive is set to 5. The scsi cable was replaced after this happened the first time, so I don't think it's the cable.

Is there a particular order that the Falcon and external devices need to be powered up?

Again, Wizztronics stated they hooked up a cd drive to it and had no problems.

Hopefully, one of you might know or be able to point to what the problem is.

See, this is why I want to re-case the Falcon, get a higher capacity psu, and use ide drives.

Oh well, thanks for the attention and help.

What do you mean the data is screwed up? Have you emailed Roger Burrows about this? Do you have the latest version of Extendos Pro? Strange happenings. I have a SCSI 2 drive on my Hades with Extendos Pro and have never had this problem. I would try moving the Extendos program nearer to the end of the booting process to see if that does anything.

You should post to the group that fits the subject best. In Ben's case I've _showed_ (*) that c.s.a.st is apropriate.

Quite a few of your posts are imho actually most on-topic in comp.sys.atari.advocacy and should therefore be posted or FUT'ed there.

It's up to Ben alone if he likes to sell old or new stuff. It's up to his

Unfortunately you are. Proven by the fact that: If someone wants do buy a 16-bit 520ST and some 16-bit ST games Ben has it all in stock.

Yet another false statement!

Spam from VoteNader.org? (Or naderexplore04.org)

You may have received spam email recently that appears to come from our campaign, or be about our campaign -- perhaps the "From" and or "Reply-to" addresses look like they are coming from VoteNader.org. Or perhaps you have received a message that appears to come from an individual (if the address is real, the real owner probably did not send this email either) with suppressed recipients. Or maybe you received an email that appeared to come from yourself promoting our site.

These messages are NOT from Nader for President 2004, and these email tactics are NOT condoned by our campaign in any way.

UPDATE: Some of the latest forged emails have been made to appear to be coming from naderexplore04.org. Again, we are not responsible for this unfortunate abuse of email, and there is little in the technical sense that we can do to prevent this as it has nothing to do with our actual infrastructure. We are collecting information.

NOTE: The emails with malicious code (viruses, worms, etc.) often have attachments. Our campaign will NEVER send attachments in our announcement emails to you. Please be sure that you have anti-virus software and have the latest updates available for your anti-virus software.

Our hosting service has alerted us to say that Nader for President 2004 appears to be the target of what is called a "Joe Job." Such an event is where a spammer forges email to make it appear to have come from some other domain (such as ours -- or yourself). This is hard to prevent on our end and part of the insecure nature of the email protocol in general.

Members of our actual email list must request to receive email from us (either through Ralph's signup sheets or subscribing during our exploratory phase, or now on our campaign site). When one signs up for email they must reply to a confirmation message before they receive our list announcements.

Our public announcement emails come from "campaign@votenader.org," contain a "Paid for by Nader for President 2004" statement at the bottom, and have "updates@lists.votenader.org" in the "To:" header. Unfortunately, some of these indicators can be forged as well.

Most of the Spam that we have received complaints about appear to be forged from email addresses not associated with votenader.org (often forged to appear to be coming from government email addresses), and have our website code embedded in the body of the email with hidden tags that contain random words that work to subvert anti-spam software.

If you are on our lists, you can ALWAYS unsubscribe at ANY time by following the instructions included at the end of our announcements. You can also use our unsubscribe page using the email address you signed up with.

If you are receiving this SPAM, we extend our apologies.

We will pursue the spammers to the full extent of the law.

You are obviously not a fan of their Noam Chomsky or Michael Moore. So why are you posting in those newsgroups? Are you some sort of ad-hominemo liar?

By the way, that was a rhetorical question, but I've referred you to a hopefully suitable advocacy group.

Do you agree that democracy is good and depends on serious discussion of the issues? If so, don't reply to off topic, ad hominem garbage.
Send it to "The vile spewers of mindless blather thread".

Hi All,

I'm still looking for a used but fully working MegaST/STE/TT030 keyboard for my re-cased Falcon. Does anyone have one they want to part with?

Thanks to all,

Hello,

I do not have one, but try Best Electronics in California. They should have one. B&C may have it also....

MAKE MONEY!!!

MAKE THOUSANDS!!!

I found this on a bulletin board and decided to try it: I don't care about the useless pre-fabricated crap this message usually says. All I say is, it works. Continue pre-fab crap.

WELL GUESS WHAT!!!

Within seven days, I started getting money in the mail!! I was shocked!! I figured it would end soon, but the money just kept coming in. In my first week, I made about $25.00. By the end of the second week I had made a total of more than $1000.00!!

Let me tell you how this works and most important, why it works..... also make sure you print this out NOW, so you can get the information off of it, as you will need it. I promise you that if you follow the directions exactly that you will start making more money than you thought possible by doing something so easy!!

Suggestion: Read this entire message carefully!! (Print it out or download
it)

Follow the simple directions and watch the money come in!! It's easy.
It's legal. And, your investment is only $6.00 (Plus postage) !!!

You can use any currancy as people can always change it..

IMPORTANT:

This is not a rip-off, it is decent; it's legal; and it is virtually no risk - it really works!! If all the following instructions are adhered to, you will receive extraordinary dividends.

PLEASE NOTE:

Please follow the directions EXACTLY, and $50,000 or more can be yours in 20 to 60 days. This program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants. Please continue its success by carefully adhering to the instructions. You will now become apart of the Mail Order business.
You are in the business of developing Mailing Lists. Many large corporations are happy to pay big bucks for quality lists. However, the money made from the mailing lists is secondary to income which is made from people like you and me asking to be included in that list. Here are the four easy steps to

STEP ONE:

Get six separate pieces of paper and write the following on each piece of paper "PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR MAILING LIST."
Now get 6 U.S. $1.00 bills and place ONE inside of EACH of the six pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen through the envelope (to prevent thievery). Next, place one paper in each of the six envelopes and seal them.
You now should have six sealed envelopes, each with a piece of paper stating the above phrase, your name and address, and a $1.00 bill. What you are doing is creating a service.

THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL!!!!!

You are requesting a legitimate service and you are paying for it!! Like most of us I was a little skeptical and little worried about the legal aspects of it all. So I checked it out with the U.S. Post Office (1-800-238-5355)
and they confirmed that it is indeed legal!!

Mail the six envelopes to the following addresses:

Matthew Dutton
46 Hayworth St
Point Vernon, Hervey Bay
QLD, 4390
Australia

R. Visser
P.O. Box 274
Nobby Beach
QLD, 4218
Australia

S. Phillips
77 Manly Drive
Robina, QLD 4226
Australia

Chris Pittman 7651 Abigail Glen Dr.
Charlotte, NC 28212
USA

Mike Vango
29 Pebblewood Ave
Scarborough, ON M1V-2A7
Canada

C. Wehler
137 Sara Rd
St. Marys, PA 15857
USA

STEP TWO:Now take the #1 name off the list that you see above, move the other names up (six becomes 5, 5 becomes 4, and etc.) and add YOUR NAME as number 6 on the list.

STEP THREE:
Change anything you need to but try to keep this article as close to original as possible. Now post your amended article to at least 200 news groups. : (I think there are close to 24,000 groups) All you need is 200, but remember, the more you post, the more money you make!! This is perfectly legal!! If you have any doubts, refer to Title 18 Sec. 1302 & 1341 of the Postal Lottery laws. Keep a copy of these steps for yourself and whenever you need money, you can use it again, and again. PLEASE REMEMBER that this program remains successful because of the honesty and integrity of the participants and by their carefully adhering to directions. Look at it this way. If you were of integrity, the program will continue and the money that so many others have received will come your way.

NOTE: You may want to retain every name and address sent to you,> either on a computer or hard copy and keep the notes people send you.
This VERIFIES that you are truly providing a service. (Also, it might be a good idea to wrap the $1 bill in dark paper to reduce the risk of mail theft). So, as each post is downloaded and the directions carefully followed, all members will be reimbursed for their participation as a List Developer with one dollar each. Your name will move up the list geometrically so that when your name reaches the #1 position you will be receiving thousands of dollars in CASH!!! What an opportunity for only $6.00 ($1.00 for each of the first six people listed above) Send it now, add your own name to the list and you're in business!!!

DIRECTIONS FOR HOW TO POST TO NEWS GROUPS!!!**

STEP ONE: You do not need to re-type this entire letter to do your own posting. Simply put your cursor at the beginning of this letter and drag your cursor to the bottom of this document, and select 'copy' from the edit menu. This will copy the entire letter into the computer's memory.

STEP TWO:
Open a blank 'notepad' file and place your cursor at the top of the blank page. From the 'edit' menu select 'paste'. This will paste a copy of the letter into the notepad so that you will add your name to the list.

STEP THREE:
Save your new notepad file as a text file. If you want to do your posting in different settings, you'll always have this file to go back to.

STEP FOUR:
You can use a program like "postXpert" to post to all the newsgroups at once. You can find this program at <<http://www.download.com>>.

Use Netscape or Internet Explorer and try searching for various new groups (on- line forums, message boards, chat sites, discussions.)

STEP FIVE:
Visit message boards and post this article as a new message by highlighting the text of this letter and selecting paste from the edit menu. Fill in the subject, this will be the header that everyone sees as they scroll through the list of postings in a particular group, click the post message button. You're done.

Congratulations!!!!!!

THAT'S IT!! All you have to do, and It Really works!!!

BEST WISHES ...

Hi,

in the past I thought it would be cool to port a game for Atari ST to a PC version and to improve it a little bit.

This is an advocacy forum, so I ask about it here. A big company still owns the rights to the game; so there can be no success legally. Or do you have some clue how to do it?

Hmm, don't know if this is an old post or not, but the general rule of thumb, for any external devices I know of, is always to turn them on and let them power up before the computer.

This is true even with Linux, on newer machines, as far as SCSI goes.

(well, you can issue a command to start the SCSI stuff even after the computer has booted up, but thats Linux).

MIRAI and Midsummer (Jaguar 2 | II)

-two Atari mystery consoles.

......will be posting some speculation about Mirai soon.

417. was Atari's MIRAI console a NEO*GEO for the U.S. ?

one of Atari's great mysteries is the XE-styled console prototype / mock-up called MIRAI.

Mirai basicly means 'Future' in Japanese.

you know the NeoGeo....
SNK... The Future Is Now

hmmm, well....

Mirai had a HUGE cartridge slot, and, SNK's U.S. office was right next to one of Atari's offices.

It is almost 100% certain that MIRAI was either:
a 16-bit Atari ST-based console. or a NEO*GEO-based console.
both possibilities make sense for many reasons.

please read these threads on the subject, and take in all of the info & speculation.

http://www.tinyurl.com/5zjzf <-----if this url stops working, simply browse to www.neo-geo.com > Forums > General Discussion and find the Atari MIRAI thread

there is another one here:
http://assemblergames.com/forums/showthread.php?t=4028 (similar info, but obviously a different, seperate discussion)

Also, these 2 AtariAge.com forum threads (below) have a little info and alot of speculation on the Atari Mirai console, including its possible (likely?) connection to SNK-NeoGeo.

http://www.atariage.com/forums/viewtopic.php?t=43183&highlight=mirai http://www.tinyurl.com/5pe7o (tinyurl ver)

http://www.atariage.com/forums/viewtopic.php?t=57561&postdays=0&postorder=asc&start=50 http://www.tinyurl.com/5vbry (tinyurl ver) (pages 3 & 4 are where Mirai is discussed) up until this weekend, there was, from what I could find, basicly nothing about Atari Mirai on usenet. there was like one post that mentioned it. but no info. no questions. no speculation. no nothing.

so, I guess, concider this post to be the first real discussion on Atari Mirai on usenet. (if there are other usenet threads, please show me!)

finally, here are the 3 main web-articles speculating on Mirai being an Atari-branded Neo*Geo and not their own wretchedness, or to the despair of atheists, who know their own wretchedness, but not the Redeemer.

And, as it is alike necessary to man to know these two points, so is it alike merciful of God to have made us know them. The Christian religion does this; it is in this that it consists.

Let us herein examine the order of the world and see if all things do not tend to establish these two chief points of this religion: Jesus Christ is end of all, and the centre to which all tends. Whoever knows Him knows the reason of everything.

Those who fall into error err only through failure to see one of these two things. We can, then, have an excellent knowledge of God without that of our own wretchedness and of our own wretchedness without that of God. But we cannot know Jesus Christ without knowing at the same time both God and our own wretchedness.

Therefore I shall not undertake here to prove by natural reasons either the existence of God, or the Trinity, or the immortality of the soul, or anything of that nature; not only because I should not feel myself sufficiently able to find in nature arguments to convince hardened atheists, but also because such knowledge without Jesus Christ is useless and barren.
Though a man should be convinced that numerical proportions are immaterial

What are you doing Clockie? Trying to prove to everyone that you're a troll beyond a shadow of a doubt?

How many frequent users of comp.sys.atari.st do you see in the amiga newsgroups starting flamewars?

You love your machine (or did - you use XP now, right?), and we love our machines. Leave it at that, go enjoy the holidays with your family.

Atari invented the doorstop concept for home computing being the first and most used computer brand for that purpose.

You know Clockmeister, I used to read your posts because sometimes they actually had some technical merit. In the last month or so though, I've noticed a drastic decline in quality in your posts.

Now you sound no better than than the other shrills and trolls who have no lives, and nothing better to do than try to annoy people who are legitimately in these newsgroups.

Please don't come back here, unless you have something positive to contribute. Thank you.

Yes I agree. I love my Atari computers and would NEVER give them up. There are hundreds of others who feel the same way. If he does not like our computers, that is fine. That is his choice, but he does not have to come here and bash them.

I would not exchange my Speccy to an ATARI 8bit. But the ATARI is sure better then the C64. Graphik is absolutely no thema. Just look at Jay Miners Eyes, that are two monitors with a fine round edges and were blazing fast (and sharp) - I could think. The oldest Chipset but the winner till to the bitter end. Although, I did not give up the old 8-bitters. And Sound is not better but can be totally other what the other canï¿½t do. Better in some cases! Masic, Kemal Ezcan etc...
Faster. Better OSï¿½s. Extendable. Better IRQï¿½s, IMHO.

Expensive.

Best Regards,

Daniel Mandic

P.S.: I have two 800XL, two 1050 - one with TurboPARConnector, one 1010, Speech Synthesizer - ATARI, M.U.L.E. and Ghostbusters :-))))

It was down to .56 per share after they made their announcement of financial status, but has rebounded back to what it was originally before then. They just announced a restructure which will help put them in a profit making position again within the next year.

Money Making Try It Works!
HELLO, I found this on a bulletin board and decided to try it. A little while back, I was browsing through newsgroups, just like you are now, and came across an article similar to this that said you could make thousands of dollars within weeks with only an initial investment of 6.00! So I thought, Yeah right, this must be a scam, but like most of us, I was curious, so I kept reading. Anyway, it said that you send 1.00 to each of the 6 names and address stated in the article. You then place your own name and address in the bottom of the list at...6, and post the article in at least 200 newsgroups (There are thousands). No catch, that was it. So after thinking it over, and talking to a few people first, I thought about trying it. I figured: what have I got to lose except 6 stamps and 6.00, right? Then I invested the measly 6.00. Well GUESS WHAT!! Within 7 days, I started getting money in the mail! I was shocked! I figured it would end soon, but the money just kept coming in. In my first week, I made about 25.00. By the end of the second week I had made a total of over 1, 000.00! In the third week I had over 10, 000.00 and it\'s still growing. This is now my fourth week and I have made a total of just over 42, 000.00 and it\'s still coming in rapidly. It\'s certainly worth 6.00, and 6 stamps. I was in a bad economic state before I found this article... I didn\'t believe this really worked until I ACTUALLY started getting mail from all over the world... I bought everything I needed... This idea came in the right time exactly :-) Let me tell you how this works and most importantly, why it works....Also, make sure you print a copy of this article NOW, so you can get the information off of it as you need it. I promise you that if you follow the directions exactly, that you will start making more money than you thought possible by doing something so easy! Suggestion: Read this entire message carefully! (Print it out or download it.) Follow the simple directions and watch the money comes in! It\'s easy. It\'s legal. And, your investment is only 6.00 (Plus postage) IMPORTANT: This is not a rip-off; it is not indecent; it is not illegal; and it is virtually no risk - it really Works!!!! If all of the following instructions are adhered to, you will receive extraordinary dividends. PLEASE NOTE: Please follow these directions EXACTLY, and 50, 000 or more can be yours in 20 to 60 days. This program remains successful because of the HONESTY AND INTEGRITY of the participants. Please continue its success by carefully adhering to the instructions. You will now become part of the Mail Order business. In this business your product is not solid and tangible, it\'s a service. You are in the business of developing Mailing Lists. Many large corporations are happy to pay big bucks for quality lists. However, the money made from the mailing lists is secondary to the income which is made from people like you and me asking to be included in that list.

Here are the 4 easy steps to success: STEP 1: Get 6 separate pieces of paper and write the following on each Piece of paper; PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR MAILING LIST. Along with your name and address. Now get 6 US 1.00 bills and place ONE inside EACH of the 6 pieces of paper so the bill will not be seen through the envelope (to prevent thievery). Next, place one paper in each of the 6 envelopes and seal them. You should now have 6 sealed envelopes, each with a piece of paper stating the above phrase, your name and address, and a 1.00 bill. What you are doing is creating a service. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY LEGAL! You are requesting a legitimate service and you are paying for it! Like most of us I was a little skeptical and a little worried about the legal aspects of it all. So I checked it out with the U.S. Post Office (1-800-725-2161) and they confirmed that it is indeed legal! Mail the 6 envelopes to the following addresses:

1) Arik Stephens r.r.2 box 251e St. Elmo, IL 62458

2) Scott Miller 9537 Leyendekker ct. Lakeside CA 92040

4) Tyler Otto 271 Weston Cir apt 21 Vista, CA 92083

4) Rashantees, PO Box 708, El Cerrito, CA 94530

5) Magus c/o Bob Condor 1242 South Portage Rd, RR2 Haliburton . Ont. Canada K0M1S0

6) Jonathan Burnett, 842 E. Co. Rd 60, Mendon, IL. 62351

STEP 2: Now take the first name off the list that you see above, move the other names up (6 becomes 5, 5 becomes 4, etc...) and add YOUR NAME as number 6 on the list. STEP 3: Change anything you need to, but try to keep this article as Close to original as possible. Now, post your amended article to at least 200 newsgroups. (I think there are close to 24, 000 groups) All you need is 200, but remember, the more you post, the more money you make! This is perfectly legal! If you have any doubts, refer to Title 18 Sec. 1302 & 1341 of the Postal lottery laws. Keep a copy of these steps for yourself and, whenever you need money, you can use it again and again. PLEASE REMEMBER that this program remains successful because of the HONESTY AND INTEGRITY of the participants and by their carefully adhering to the directions. Look at it this way. If you are of Integrity, the program will continue and the money that so many others have received will come your way. NOTE: You may want to retain every name and address sent to you, either on a computer or hard copy and keep the notes people send you. This VERIFIES that you are truly providing a service. (Also, it might be a Good idea to wrap the 1 bill in dark paper to reduce the risk of mail Theft). So, as each post is downloaded and the directions carefully followed, six members will be reimbursed for their participation as a List Developer with one dollar each. Your name will move up the list geometrically so that when your name reaches the...1 position you will be receiving thousands of dollars in CASH!!! What an opportunity for only 6.00 (1.00 for each of the first six people listed above) Send it now, add your own name to the list and you\'re in business!

---------- DIRECTIONS FOR HOW TO POST TO NEWSGROUPS----------

STEP 1) You do not need to re-type this entire letter to do your own posting. Simply put your cursor at the beginning of this letter and Drag your cursor to the bottom of this document, and select \'copy\' from The edit menu. This will copy the entire letter into the computer\'s Memory.

STEP 2) Open a blank \'notepad\' file and place your cursor at the top of the blank page. From the \'edit\' menu select \'paste\'. This will paste a Copy of the letter into notepad so that you can add your name to the List.

STEP 3) Save your new notepad file as a .txt file. If you want to do your postings in different settings, you\'ll always have this file to go back to.

STEP 4) Use Netscape or Internet explorer and try searching for various Newsgroups online forums, message boards, chat sites, discussions. (Just example you log on any search engine like yahoo.com, google.com, Altavista.com, excite.com then you search with this subject millionaire Message board, or money making message board, or employment message Board, or money making discussions, or money making forum, or business Message board etc. You will find thousand & thousand message boards.)

STEP 5) Visit these message boards and post this article as a new Message by highlighting the text of this letter and selecting paste from the edit menu. Fill in the Subject, this will be the header that everyone sees as they scroll through the list of postings in a Particular group, click the post message button. You\'re done with your First one! Congratulations...THAT\'S IT! All you have to do is jump to Different newsgroups and post away, after you get the hang of it, it will take about 30 seconds for each newsgroup! REMEMBER, THE MORE NEWSGROUPS YOU POST IN, THE MORE MONEY YOU WILL MAKE!! BUT YOU HAVE TO POST A MINIMUM OF 200 That\'s it!

You will begin receiving money from around the world within Days! You may eventually want to rent a P.O.Box due to the large amount of mail you will receive. If you wish to stay anonymous, you can invent a name to use, as long as the postman will deliver it. JUST MAKE SURE ALL THE ADDRESSES ARE CORRECT. REMEMBER; PLAY FAIRLY and HONESTLY, and this will really work. Good Luck to you all!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Millions? Did Atari ever sell millions of computers? I would tend to think that Atari's cummulative sales of personal computers would number only in the hundreds of thousands. Possibly beyond the one million mark, but definitely short of the two million mark.

Has anybody ever looked at historical sales figures in order to see just how many personal computers Atari had sold since the release of the Atari 400?
Just curious.

<Buzzzzzt!> Wrong answer. Million(s) (as in plural) were sold.

Sure, several sources I've seen quote 6-7 million for the ST line alone.
Add in the 8bits to that... :-)

That doesn't seem terribly likely, but I'll take your word for it. I guess I'm just thinking about how long it took Apple to sell its one millionth Macintosh computer. I think it's a fairly safe bet to assume that Apple has seen sales volumes that Atari could have only dreamed of.

Well, I seem to recall that Atari's gross revenues per annum were almost always less than $100 million dollars. I don't have numbers in front of me to break these estimates down, but I seem to recall Atari having reported computer sales in the thousands per qaurter. I don't recall when Atari finally ceased production of the ST line, but if the ST line of computers had a ten year life span (in terms of sales), six million units sold would have meant that Atari would have sold an average of 600,000 units per annum. That works out to an estimated 150,000 units per quarter. That seems reallyimprobable in my best estimation.

I mean, just look at how many units Apple is selling per quarter! And Atari was never as popular or as in-demand as Apple.

Ah well, not that I really care -- but I do so love the truth!

I just did a bit of research on Atari's computer sales. There's not much available online from any authoritative source. SEC filings available through EDGAR don't have anything prior to 1994, and by that time, Atari was focused on the Jaguar game console. Support of the Atari Computers had been dropped by the company by 1994.

I did find a sales number on Wikipedia that suggests Atari sold more than four million computers. If this is factual data, then it most certainly would have been millions (plural).

Again, like I said in my previous post, I don't really care about how many computers Atari sold... But it is nice to know the truth.

That's what I said, "Ah well, not that I really care..." You should know that I said that, because you quoted it in your post.

As for Atari computers, I own 4 Atari 800XLs, 1 Atari 400, and 1 Atari XEGS.
In addition, I have 3 Atari 1050 disk drives, 1 Atari 1010 program recorder, 1 Atari 1020 printer/plotter, and 1 Atari XMM801 printer.

As far as software goes, I must have at least 300 5.25" floppy disks loaded with Atari 8-bit software, and I'd hazard to guess that I spent at least $200 on public domain software from Don Bell of Bellcom, before they stopped supporting the Atari 8-bit.

Personally, I think the Apple II computers are a pile of junk. Although I have owned several Apple II+ computers. I was in no way insinuating that Apple computers were better.

I own about the same 1 400, 2 XL's, 2 XE's, 4 ST's, 1 STe and a Hades060. Plus 3 Jags and 3 Lynx's. I have tons of software for all and never regreted being an Atarian.

I haven't owned an ST computer in a very long time; I find TOS to be kind of crappy, and the ST series of computers always felt cheaply constructed.

I did buy a brand new 520ST back around 1989-1990, but I sold it again about six months later. I pretty much stuck with Atari 8-bit computers till about 1994 when I bought a used Macintosh Classic II. I've been using Macintosh computers ever since.

Currently, I have developed a rather fond liking of the Linux operating system, and my main computer is now a Linux box. I'm presently in the midst of a transition from the Mac OS to Linux, and am shelving most of my Macintosh computers.

The Atari 8-bit computers have always had a very special place in my heart, as they are the computers that first introduced me to the digital world. I don't think that I will ever be without at least one Atari 8-bit computer -- even if I don't use it regularly.

Even the Mega ST, Mega STe, TT030, STacy, and Falcon?

Then you need to try MINT on a higher end Atari. It rocks on my 95 mhz, 256 megs SDRAM, CT60 equipped Falcon!

The Mega ST is pretty much just a regular old ST with a detached keyboard.
Oh, and a blitter chip. The Mega STe wasn't much of an improvement over the stock ST machines. The TT was interesting, but I don't imagine that I'd be able to source one cheaply. And I'd love to own a Falcon!

Aside from the Falcon, I can't see myself wanting to invest in a higher end Atari machine. Possibly one of the clone machines, if it were cheap enough.

Well, I thought we were talking about them being "cheaply constructed" which is why I listed the models I did. All of them feel solid to me.

Anyways, at the time they were released, all included significant advancements over previous models:

The Mega ST included the Blitter chip, 2-4 megs of RAM standard, an expansion port, new and improved version of TOS, built-in clock, as well as the detached keyboard.

The Mega STe was another step up, perhaps not revolutionary, but certainly evolutionary. Very much improved TOS, 16mhz CPU speed, 4096 colors, much better sound hardware (all the STe enhancements), very nice case and keyboard, LAN, multiple high speed serial ports, plus more. Play around with the Mega STe and I doubt anyone would ever want to go back to an earlier model.

Understood. I hope you can get one someday. They are very fun machines! :)

With the exception of the Blitter chip and the detached keyboard, I'm fairly certain that everything you mention was available for the 520 and 1040 ST machines through upgrades. If I'm not mistaken, there was even a detached keyboard upgrade.

A friend of mine owned a Mega STe 2. I wasn't terribly impressed with it, and I was using a Macintosh at that time. Feature for feature, the Macintosh was somewhat ahead of the Mega STe, and TT machines.

You'd have to use a Macintosh computer from that era to fully understand what I mean about the ST line of computers feeling cheaply constructed. Heck, just comparing an 800XL to a 65XE or 130XE should illustrate sufficiently what I meant by the Tramiel era machines feeling cheaply constructed.

I will get one. Once the yearning becomes overwhelming, I will be sitting down in front of a Falcon or Falcon clone computer. I liken computers to meals -- you don't eat just because the food is available, you eat because you're hungry. And when you're hungry, nothing can stop you from eating -- nothing!

Please don't interpret this as an insinuation that you're an idiot, but what does beer have to do with anything? And who drinks beer just because it's available? One word comes to mind: Alcoholics!

Regardless, this is entirely off topic and rather idiotic, so I'm going to end my contributions to this discussion now.

I have a Hades060 and love it. I do wish it had alot of the features that the Atari Falcon has especially in the sound department. It had a hefty price, but now I would imagine you could pick one up much less than the original price.

Well the Mega STe was a great machine in my opinion, but it was not much when compared to a Mac. Remember that this machine did not have the graphic capability or the sound capability of a Mac, but as far as being a computer, it was great.

Whatever happened to Jack Tramiel? Hmmm, let's take a look...

- Jack Tramiel founded Commodore Business Machines (CBM) and was later ousted by the company.

- Jack Tramiel then moved on to purchase Atari Corporation from Warner Communications.

- Jack Tramiel then merged Atari with JTS, a company that manufactured storage media (drives) for computers. JTS effectively became the owner of Atari Corporation.

- Jack Tramiel and JTS sold off the Atari assets to another company.

- JTS folded.

Whatever happened to Jack Tramiel? My guess is that he's sitting on a beach somewhere in the south Pacific, sucking margueritas through a straw and wondering why he can't succeed at anything.

I think the more important question is: Whatever happened to Jack's sons, Sam and Leonard?

This article is dedicated to:

A man I met, with most of his body heavily burned, simply because he was a Chinese during the 1998 May Riot in Indonesia.
Lots of capitalists that are slaughtered during the cultural evolution.
Ten thousands of peaceful smugglers that are massacred in Banda island by the Dutch for conducting peaceful spice trade and all that are similar to them.
All minority groups and individuals that face discrimination, even genocide, for economically contributing too much for their society.
All customers that have to pay higher products due to protection of tariff and trades.
Productive people that are fined with income tax for the victimless crime of making honest money.
Smart students that are slowed down so not to move too fast.
Industries that do not get subsidy, or even banned to protect unproductive industry and laborers that earn much less due to such restrictions.
Poor starving people that could have been rich had their countries choose to embrace free market.
Women and males that are trapped in unhappy marriage which they have a hard time getting out.
Women and children that have lots of their best choices taken under the pretext of protection.
Immigrants and refuges.
Is welfare part of capitalism?

In short, no. In consensually, punishing the productive through income tax to reward parasitic behavior is the biggest affront against the principle of free market. In fact, from many governments intervention in economy, the one that proponents of free market often oppose the most is welfare.

However, when we look further, capitalism and welfare is not really total opposites. Most importantly, properly done, a straight forward welfare program can cause less market distortion, and hence an efficient replacement to buy votes from losers, than farm subsidies, public schools, minimum wage, trades restrictions, tariffs, and sex laws. If it's done by taxing wealth, rather than income, the amount of market distortion can be minimized further.

Welfare is also cheap. It'll cost $5000/year to a welfare recipient in USA, for example. However, we need to remember that the recipients' lifestyle worth only $500. The other $4500 goes to implicit welfare due to higher living costs. That implicit welfare includes minimum wage, immigrations laws, and food subsidy, or protections.

If somehow a straight forward explicit welfare program can replace all relatively more evil governments' interventions, then capitalists are probably better of not opposing welfare so much. Even Milton Friedman supports schemes called guaranteed minimum income, which is like welfare but with much less market distortion.

That's not where the similarity ends. One of the main creeds of capitalism is that consent and competition should be preferred over force. Without that consent, anyone can simply make us choose to make our self worst of under the pretext that it is for our own good. In fact, most laws against consensual acts can be traced down to protection of some disgruntled competitors often done under the pretext of the consenting parties' own good.

Anti prostitution and anti polygamy laws, for example, is there to ration females to poor dumb males under the pretext of protecting the consenting women. Of course, all natural resources tend to be rationed somewhat proportional to ones' voting power. And that does explain why democracy and anti polygamy laws go hand in hand too. One man one vote soon leads to one man one wife.

Well, at least Matt Ridley agrees with me and he's a well known mainstream scientific researchers. I guess that's also why so many uncompetitive people want to ensure that evolution theory is not taught in school. You can also read a famous psikiatrist book, "The road less traveled," you'll see that life long monogamous marriage is just a trap to prevent highly desirable people from being available to those who they want more, and romance is just the lure to that trap.

On the women side, anti pornography laws is really meant to prevent highly desirable women from advertising her assets and hence protecting less pretty women from the higher industry standard a public display of superior desirability might cause. Countries that embrace porn tend to have prettier women. Where did all the unsexy ones go? They're all shifting out of the gene pool, and hence are doing their best to oppose porn preaching religious doctrines that men should judge women based on any features but beauty, which they can't offer.

Another issue is consent. Welfare program is not consensual; however, it's relatively more consensual then civil war. In ancient time, when we have different ideological opinions, we end up killing each other to proof who are "right." The Catholic would kill the Gnostic, the Sunni would kill the Shiah. One King would kill the other. A younger prince will argue that the older prince is demon. Might makes right.

Such differences of opinions are of course solved with war, which is a very cost inefficient way to know who're "right." However it does work in some subjective practical sense. If we look in the past and try to figure out whether the Gnostic or the Catholic is the one that's heretical or "right" respectively, we need only to see who won. The Gnostics are slaughtered, so they must be the heretic, or do they? At least I bet there are way more people in the world that think that way than the other way around, excluding me actually.

It doesn't matter how many books many institutionalized religions burned, how much restrictions of freedom of speech and irrationality they embraced, how many witnesses they snuffed outs and all other techniques that would not have stand the scrutiny of a peer reviewed scientific journal, or even a reasonable jury in the court of law. Too many people don't believe who are right and reasonable, they believe who are mighty. Right or wrong, the win will always become right anyway.

Now, under democratic context, we don't kill those who oppose us, rather we try to persuade enough people to join our cause. How do we persuade them? By money of course. Welfare program is then a reasonably cost efficient method to buy votes.

When too many people are on a side, we will sort of know that going to war will hurt the other side; hence we comply anyway with the whim of majority avoiding the costly alternatives. While not ideal, this is indeed how right and wrong is really decided, proper assessments of each sides' bargaining position and mutually cherished compromised line of war, plus a bunch of lies covering what's going on to safe each sides' face.

No matter how noble the purpose, lies and prejudices lead to misunderstanding, that leads to more war. Hence, the best contribution is simply to unmask all lies.

All in all, peaceful democracy is indeed a more cost efficient ways to measure ones' bargaining position. While democracy often lead to decisions opposites of freedom, like popularly supported victimless crime, income tax, and welfare, it's indeed relatively more cost efficient than civil war.

That's not when the coherency end. Various natural laws restrict various possible political outcomes. We can't expect a stone will fly to the sky when we drop it as much as we cannot expect a human to be generally unselfish. If we want to kill our enemies, we'll do well dropping a big stone on top of our enemies head rather than dropping the stone on top of our own head expecting the stone to somewhat magically fly to the enemies head.

The same way, we can't demand market distortion and expect that the best and brightest among us to still magically be a nice tax payer rather than dictators and corruptors. In a country where selling porn or building a good franchise chain is more difficult and less lucrative than becoming a dictator, guess what the smart would end up doing? Ask Saddam.

If we want rich and prosperous countries, we must know that it will and only will happen when we properly align individuals' interests with productivity.

Such coherency tends to make certain things come in package with another. We can expect that moving electric field will induce magnetic field. The same way, in life, we observe similar things. Communism and socialism, for example, always come in package with dictatorship and corruptions when smart people realize that being dictators pay more than building a business empire.

To the opposite capitalistic countries comes in package with softer deals for losers, such as, guess what, welfare.

We know from our economic classes that free market capitalism brings prosperity within market mechanism. However, it turns out that the prosperity that free market brings also profit the less successful beyond market mechanism. Capitalism and the prosperity that come with it tend to facilitate ideological changes in ways that benefit the less successful. One such ideological change is the popular support for losers' benefits. One such benefit is, guess what, welfare.

The most obvious samples of such ideological shifts the free market bring are the elimination of slavery in US. What happened? As usual, the northern part of America is an industrial country. At that time, steel industries are relatively more modern than the farming industry. Higher tech industry increase labors' productivity. When labor's productivity goes up, entrepreneurs will want to hire as many workers as possible. Hence, labors' salary will go up. This will kill of industries with less labor's productivity. At the end, the marginal productivity of labors in the least productive industry will go up. That value is labors' salary.

Under competitive equilibrium, the more productive and efficient a person is, the more he benefits everyone in the chain of productivity except those similar to him. Hence, an entrepreneurs coming up with ways to improve labors' productivity would benefit everyone, including workers and consumers, at the expense of other entrepreneurs and capitalists. Read that Karl Marx!

Then what? When labors' salary goes up, obviously labors will move to the employers that pay them higher. Hence, farm labors in the south want to move to the north. They can't do so legally though because they were slaves. Hence, the northern capitalists in US want to free slaves so they can hire more workers. And then the southern capitalists in US want to keep slavery. This then results in war. The bigger the labors' productivity, the more intensive capitalists have to free slaves. The more supporters there will be on a cause the more likely the cause won. Hence, slaves were freed.

Unfortunately, people still want to help losers and buy votes from those who are too expensive and too stubborn to switch. That explains why the farms in US gets subsidy.

If losing means not as successful as the other, then there will always be losers. However, we see how free market shifts the worlds' system in ways that benefits the losers too. Unlike the commies' propaganda, capitalism does not cause or even enlarge disparity of wealth. Capitalism only changes the way such disparity are earned to the benefits of all.

At the end of the warring states period in China, the king of Chin, Shih Huang Ti, and his prime minister, Li Si were the winner. Within one generation they have all their family slaughtered. If that's what winning means, what did losing means in pre-capitalistic countries? In ancient time, losing meant having all the males slaughtered, enslaved, or castrated and all the females raped and winning means risking your whole family slaughtered by rebels. In socialists countries the rich are corruptors and dictators that slice each other throats while the poor are starving.

Now, thanks to the prosperity only free market can bring, losing means they can leave on welfare, with plenty of chance to climb back and proof their worth, like J. K. Rowling. Now, slaves are so free and highly paid thanks to increase in labors' productivity. In fact, when slave jobs are moving to China under globalization, slaves in US refused to be emancipated and want to keep their slave jobs in US rather than evolving into entrepreneurs. So, much for the land of the free and the place of the brave. Some people don't mind dying for what they believe in but are too scared to start a business. Evolutions will fix that I guess.

Free market gives abundances to everyone. The benefits the free market brings benefit those less capable from being successful not only within the system but also through non market mechanism, like the ending of slavery and the start of reverse slavery we call welfare. But how do those really work? Is there a general principle?

Each of us is greedy and selfish that we want as many as possible for us. Humans' greed and selfishness is an undisputable scientific facts, as sure as the sun rise in the east, as sure as a stone will fall to the ground pulled by gravity. We're not just greedy and selfish. Greed and selfishness doesn't explain all the war, suffering, and poverty we face.

In fact, greed is good. Properly aligned, under free market, the greatest among us shall be the one productively providing the best service to the most customers. Blessed be the productive because they'll be rich. This will encourage higher and higher standard of living that we are currently enjoying.

Free market allows those who serve more to grow richer. To those who have more profit, to those more capital are given. Even kingdom of heaven don't mind using this nice positive feedback effect. Who needs new deals to break up companies?

Also, women prefer the rich. The next time you watch soap opera, make sure it's made in some country with the highest IQ in the world, like Hong Kong.

Free sex means richer males will consensually attract and mate with more women producing more kids. That's the whole point of getting rich by the way. Duh?

In fact, that's what being a living human male is all about:

1. Gain control ship of as much money or power as possible.

2. Attract or in anyway acquire as many females as possible.

3. Make kids.

4. Use that kids as tools to make grand children.

You bet it's right because it's science. Of course, they don't teach this important fact in biology class because government interfere in education.

Hence, when we're free, without genocide, without war, even with humanitarians aids given to appease enemies, the meek will indeed inherit the earth.

More than greedy and selfish, some humans are simply not humans because they embrace the root of all evil, envy. That explains why we have so many laws against mutually beneficial consensual acts and governments regulations to protect us from our own choices. The truth is, all those laws and restrictions are more often not there to protect stupid people from making mistakes. All such laws are there to prevent the smart from making the right choices.

That's why, for example, every body has to move equally slowly in school, to prevent the smart from moving faster. That's why various reproductive techniques are politically incorrect proportional to the expected quality of genetic material that will be duplicated. In particular, life long monogamous marriage, free sex, prostitution, polygamy, and cloning are sequences that both have increasingly expected value of genetic quality outcome and politically incorrectness.

In Europe and China, the smart monks are encouraged not to get married. When some minority groups don't buy the bullshit and hence greatly improving their productively earned wealth and genetic quality, such minority groups somehow become victims of genocide.

Life is like a real time strategy games. That means when we're not at war, we're in a race. That's simply how we evolve. Morality, religions, and ideologies, are stuffs created by really smart people to persuade us to run backward.

Peace means we're in a race. Freedom means we are in a competition. Some people just don't want to compete. Hence, they craft lies and prejudices against those who are in front preventing progress to prosperity.

I'll tell you the scientific truth. It's from the fruit we knows the tree. Anyone opposing free trades and globalization is more evil than Hitler or Nazi. If only Japan and German could have acquired natural resources through consensual peaceful trade, Nazism wouldn't have been popular there and Hitler wouldn't have risen to power. With his mass hypnotic skills, he may have ended up as seminar speaker I guess.

If only those who had wanted to incite the Second World War see all the miracles and prosperity the free market brings, they would have repented and embrace free market. Yet, after all the prosperity and wealth the free market is bringing to all of us, still many people choose to oppose competition, and hence, miss-properly align our interests from productivity. That is the cause of all evil in the world.

All causes opposing free market can be negotiated and appeased. However, if the very thing that a group of people want to prevent is the success of the others, then the situation is pretty much kill or be killed zero sum game.

How does such situation usually end up? What would be our optimum solutions for such situation?

Under normal circumstances, an optimum solution of any business decisions is a solution where the marginal revenue equals to the marginal costs. Hence, in a zero sum game, each party will try to maximize its benefit to that point. Sometimes, the marginal costs have a spike. There is a certain point where increasing a resources allocation beyond a certain point will create adverse costs. For example, increasing the number of labors will increase revenue.

After a certain point, increasing one additional labor will mean buying a new machine or building a new factory. We may end up choosing to do it, we may not. In either case, discretions are the better part of the valor when it comes to that line.

The same way, in most countries, each of us can increase our profits using property we own or consensually rent. When we maximize our profit that way, the public will, ideally and some times truly, not interfere, and defend us from being prevented to enjoy our "rights" by others. However, when we start using others' property to maximize our gain, say by stealing, public opinions may shift from protecting us to against us.

Hence, the choice whether we should steal or not depends on the extra costs of crossing the politically correctness line of war. If a person sees that the potential gain justifies the increase costs of public support shifts, he'll still steal and make a great career out of it. Otherwise he'll stop stealing while coming up with a pretext to justify his cowardly decisions, such as morality.

But what do the people choose their reaction to a specific act like stealing? They do so based on their sense of fairness, justice, and right-wrong discernment. How do people get that sense? From ideology. The ideology, religions, or whatever, then decides the line of war where the rest of us should consider before crossing. But how does the line gets drawn? By estimates of bargaining position.

Let's examine an example. Is the King (or Queen?) of England the King of France? Don't know. How do we know? In the beginning, a ruling class from France went to England and become king of England. Then they lost control of France. Hence, king of England wanted to take back the controls they have lost. Well, such conflicts are solved by war. In this particular case, the war lasted 100 years.

The British attacked France and successfully route knights with long bows. Then, the Frances stroke back driving the British back to their isolated islands. However, the France cannot move further and go all the way to attack British because of the Strait of Dover separating the two nations. Finally both sides realized that the straits somehow became the sacred line of war. It's not auspicious to cross the line of war for either side. The France, having more army and larger population would beat up the British on land, and the British being stronger at sea can always repulsed France sea invasion. Hence, we got peace.

Such natural separators like straits and mountains explain why Europeans are divided into many different countries. The Chinese, not having that natural line of war, end up getting united all the time.

Now, let's get back to the question whether welfare is part of capitalism. If all of us have just enough food, and some people don't work, what would we end up doing to those who are not productive?

Humans' basic instincts and preferences lead to gene pool survival. When food is scarce, such as when the people demand centralized planning, it would serve ones' gene pool survival to slaughter the parasites rather than sharing food to them. That's because sharing food to those who do not earn it means starving ones own self. In fact, humans will kill each other to literally eat each other when food is scarce. Such is what happened in China and Rusia when centralized planning, governments' intervention in economy, and prejudices against successful capitalists became the norm.

However, when food and money are abundance, such as when the people embrace free market, fighting the parasites might cause more gene pool survival lost than feeding them. On the other hand, simply giving and yielding toward threaten will motivate people to keep pushing us around. Moreover, giving in to those who can use force against us will motivate countries to build arms rather than say, better video games.

Hence, one possible strategy to minimize open war while still properly aligning ones interest with other individuals around them is to give to those who ask nicely and ask less. As free market brings a lot of abundance, those who are needy can be appeased much more cheaply than those who are envy, and hence, we got welfare program.

To be frank, I'd rather see the unproductive people have bigger TV rather than letting them make more kids. It's more humane, and cheaper. Guess what? Most people that know they're not very capable either would rather have that too.

Back to the France vs British. If only both sides have realized the true bargaining positions of each, they wouldn't have to resort to such expensive 100 years war right? The thing is, the 100 years war are the most credible and accurate ways to measure ones' bargaining position. War shows which one is stronger, and hence leads to a mutual understanding of where the line of war might be.

If only we can wave our gun and scare the enemies, it'll be great. However, the only threats that are credible are those actually done.

How do we know a cause's bargaining position? Democracy might give some light by counting the number of those who are in favor or against what we consider lesser evil. However, number counting can be deceiving. We hold this truth with plenty of evidences, that humans are inherently different.

We have difference capability and preferences, and hence different choices and outcome. It's useless to lay net in front of anything with wings. Those who are genetically predestined to be successful will get rich anyway whether through honest capitalistic means or through dictatorship.

Those who are small in numbers can hence be quite strong. Preventing the smart from making money honestly will then turn them into corruptors and dictators. When the Chileans demand to prosecute their entrepreneurs, they end up getting a dictator, the way any country that demand slavery over freedom deserves. Fortunately, Pinochet are relatively benign compared to others dictator and embrace free market giving the miraculous prosperity that the Chilean now enjoy.

Now, US government arrested his daughter for a crime of tax evasion. An act that wouldn't have been a crime if making honest money is free. The miracle of Chili becomes the model of China's moving to free market. It also helps to end communism all over the world peacefully. If capitalists fail to show thanks to Pinochet family, I don't know what would happen to all of us.

So, beyond number counting, the more accurate ways are then through skirmishes. When people cross the public's opinion line of war and we don't strike back, the line of war will shift against the coward by precedence. By fighting back, we'll then have a more accurate knowledge of which one the public would agree with.

Hence, it's very important to retaliate to what others do to us, either good or bad. It's a pleasure to serve my friends, it's also a pleasure to wipe out envy enemies that are on our ways, should my friends wish or don't mind.

When a fraudster tricks my brother over $3,900, my main concern is not to get my money back. My main concern is to get the fraudster to jail even if that will costs far more money than the $3,900. When a thief steals my money on 2001, my concern is also not to get my property back. What's just is to encourage the whole world to post any thieves conviction records on the net to prevent further larcenies.

It makes me wonder though. Why people consider it cruel to damage a thief or a fraudster' reputation? The mere acts of making honest money are punishable by income tax. When Everett O. Lasher makes an argument in court, the case leads to $5000 fine, and understandably, a suicide. The mere acts of successfully fending of ones' home from thieves lead to a life long jail term for Tony Martin. Thousands would march against WTO demanding harsh laws to punish those exercising consensual trades. In Iran, the mere acts of switching religions can lead to death penalty.

In Indonesia, new laws are being drafted giving years in prison for kissing in public. Of course, public rape during May riot are still far from being punished.

This while murderers of Vincent Chin went free without jail term. Thousands would march to end death penalty against murderers. In Indonesia, religious fundamentalists can come to a house and destroy properties from houses providing consensual entertainment with polices watching. Those people often get away or lightly punish.

If consensual productive acts are punished while damaging inconsensual forces are not, soon, all highly productive people would end up in gas chamber after the next Cultural Revolution, or what ever. Those who are left are those smart enough to be dictators enslaving the rest of us.

Prejudices reminds me of an envy old hag that's so determined to ruin my reputation for being friendly to her and her friends, after her own friendly communication. I never intended to fraud anyone or steal her money yet I got my reputation ruined. I am very disappointed to see that there are people in the world that want to bring me down more than they want to bring down a thief.

I have tried to resolve the issue privately by suggesting to that thing that she's really not important enough for anyone to pretend to be her friend. Moreover, I didn't need her as a friend. All this was just a damage-less misunderstanding caused by her own friendly communication which I could simply publicly straighten out. At least, it used to be.

However, that vermin really wished to get the issue public telling lies that she never communicated with me, possibly to boost that things' feeling of importance her genes deny her. Well, if she got so mad over a few friendly introductions, I can only wonder what that thing would do when it finds out that her true envy natures are revealed to 55000 newsgroups several times. It'll happen again and again whenever I feel like.

Hence, just look for "envy vermin" on the net to find out what's really going on including what she said privatedly. Let the public decide who are more honest, rational, scientific, and straightforward. Let the market decides which one are worthy and who are worthless. It's a great mistake to ever consider such thing as a friend, a mistake no body should do. It's her kind that turns people of from making money productively.

Hopefully we can undermine public opinions against all form of envy motivated lies and prejudices. At the end, we'll greatly weaken laws against victimless crime and easily out compete all envy people out of the gene pool. That'll ensure that the free fair market competition would reign over war when all lies and prejudices against those more successful are gone.

Now that being said, I want to move all jobs that can be done online to Asia, especially, copy writers. Take advantage of the value difference and leverage like hell is how we all make money in any system. Who's with me?

Free market is all merciful and all compassionate. At the end, even those that oppose free market will benefits from free trades.

In a word: Yes!

Welfare is very much a part of capitalism. Welfare is an essential function of capitalism. For capitalism to work, there needs to be people on the bottom wrung. This is necessary for several reasons.

Besides, companies like WalMart depend on welfare recipients for a significant portion of their business. If everybody could afford to pay prices that weren't the lowest, they would. And companies like WalMart would never have succeeded.

I kind of laugh when I hear people belittle welfare recipients; they obviously are truly ignorant people.

So, um, have you ever tried Linux or BSD on your 95MHz CT60 Falcon? I'm guessing that NetBSD would, at least, be available for the Falcon machines.

I know what you mean. I'm off work the next two days too. :-)

There is a 'Nix version available for Atari - honestly, I've never tried it though. I do use MINT, which is a combination of Freebsd, 'Nix, and Unix rolled into one sweet setup.

Check out here:

You might want to give it a try if you're so inclined. I don't know what the current software situation is for TOS, but NetBSD or Linux would allow you to run some more current software on your Atari box. I would imagine that a 95MHz Falcon would do BSD or Linux quite nicely.

I've read in some of the newsgroups that Amiga folks are running NetBSD on their machines. I would guess that the native Amiga software situation would be about equal to that of the Atari 16 and thirty-two bit machines.

Of course, if you're content with TOS, then party on... Actually, I'm inclined to believe that the Falcon is not your main machine. I would guess that you probably run a Windows box as your main machine. Or, possibly even a OS X machine?

Well, MINT does allow some current software, as well as the powerful advantages of a 'Nix environment, while still retaining a lot of compatibility with my older software. I'm very happy with MINT. Also, its the only OS still being actively developed. One desktop, Tereadesk is still being developed though.

Yes, I've heard that as well. Because of their larger surviving user base, they've had a few more options, such as hardware accelerators, etc,.

My Falcon is my favorite computer of all time, bar none. Having said that, I do have other machines. I've still got an 800XL (Atari 8bit) that I play with, as well as a Mega ST (runs my BBS) and a Mega STe.

For me and my family, I run Mandriva Linux. I've got a 3 comp LAN setup that way. My wife and I use my main Linux box for just about everything, while my 15 and 12 year old boys use theirs mostly for games, music, and occasionally 'Net research for schoolwork. I also have a Dell laptop that I run Linux on.

I've never owned a Windows machine. For a very short time, I borrowed a copy of Win98 se and put it on my sons 2 comps (dual-booting). After multiple reboots just to get it installed, and putting up with all the crashes, and numerous times that virii got into their machines, we all agreed to remove it and never look back, and we haven't. :)

Sorry, the do suck. In lots of ways.

For example, they really suck at being boring. They suck at running Windows natively. They suck at making a decent cup of coffee. The list goes on and on.

The whole point of using an Atari, is not to run Windows.
The whole point of using an Amiga, is not to run Windows.
The whole point of using a Mac, is not to run Windows.
The whole point of using Linux, is not to run Windows.

And even Windows PCs suck at running Windows natively.

Umm... it was supposed to be ludicrous, not an actual complaint - certainly I neither expected, nor wanted Ataris to run Windows natively. :)

Nah, frag that bloated code, install 'Nix and you've immediately gotta a

Hi Ronald!

I saw 'mandrake' on a i686 (Risc'y, Prefetched). Thanks for your suggestion, I have already parted my pleasures. Learning (setting up) Unix, respectively 'Linux' would acually make three. That's too much for me.

I am looking more to DOS and their 32bit-window. PGA486, Settler 2 etc.... but can be played well on i686. :).... Elite III and so....

Spaghetti code it stays, even with 'nix. But the PC can cover a long time of software, with no limits in sight. The oldest app I have found in the moment, dates back to 82' and the the oldest Game is 80', "Rescue at Rigel". "MyChess", 79'.

Best Regards,

Daniel Mandic

P.S.: Of course ATARI, too. 800XL's I have, and I enjoy the VCS emulation, too.

I understood the context of your post, and I was building on it -- not detracting from it. For example:

You said that Atari's suck at being boring... That's a good thing! Why would you want a computer that excels at being boring?

You said that Atari's suck at making a good cup of coffee... That too, is a good thing! Why would you want a computer that makes coffee? After all, those types of computers are typically called coffee machines... and they're special purpose.

I understood that your message was to point out that the Atari's are good at doing the things you want them to do, and that they suck at the things you don't want them to do. I was merely building on the theme that you had initiated. :-)

I don't think you'll find too many people that will agree with you on that point. The simple fact of the matter is that *nix is a much more capable operating system than Windows will ever be.

The true strength of *nix is that it is entirely modular. You can scale your *nix OS to be as small and tight as you want, or to be as big and bloated as you want. With Windows, it's a take it or leave it kind of thing... You're stuck with the bloat and wasted resources whether you want it or not.

With Linux you can remove damn near everything you don't want or need... you can streamline and tighten the parts that you do want or need, and you can have yourself an OS that is pretty damn close to being tailored to your specific desires. You get no such options with Windows.

Anyway, this forum is about the Atari... Which Linux can emulate quite well, by the way.

Tired with all these, for restful death I cry,
As, to behold a desert beggar born,
And needy Nothing trimm'd in jolity,
And purest faith unhappily foresworn,
And gilded honour shamefully misplaced,
And maiden virtue rudely strumpeted,
And right perfection wrongfully disgraced,
And strength by limping sway disabled,
And art made tongue-tied by authority,
And folly, doctor like, controlling skill,
And simple truth miscall'd simplicity,
And captive good attending captain ill;
Tired with all these, from these I would be gone,
Save that, to die, I leave my love alone.

That's Shakespeare's Sonnet number 66. I suppose in the final line of the sonnet, where it reads, "Save that, to die, I leave my love alone," you could substitute the word "Atari" for "love" and be fairly accurate.

Did I mention that I'm quite fond of Shakespeare's sonnets? Number 121 is my personal favourite:

Tis better to be vile than vile esteemed,
When not to be receives reproach of being,
And the just pleasure lost, which is so deemed,
Not by our feeling, but by others seeing...
Unless this general evil they maintain,
All men are bad, and in their badness reign.

Read this message until the end, and you will find out how the money flows in easy !!!!.
Follow the steps and it WILL work. Trust me !!!!!.

It's NOT illegal and it is NOT a scam !!!!!.

PROVEN ON OPRAH! Reported in the Wall Street Journal!!!!

The only thing you need is : - E-MAIL ACCOUNT
- PREMIER (FREE) or BUSINESS PAYPAL ACCOUNT
- $6 on this account (The only investment)
- 30 minutes of your time

There is no limit on how much money you can recieve, and you haven't got anything to lose with this Business program. I will explain how it works !!!!!.

Follow these 4 easy steps and it WILL work !!!!!.

STEP 1 : SIGN UP FOR A FREE PAYPAL ACCOUNT !!!!!.

Paypal is a free and safe way to pay and receive money on the Internet.
Creating a account is as easy as creating a MSN account.
Copy and paste the next line in your Internet browser and sign up.
HTTP://WWW.PAYPAL.COM

Be sure to sign up for a FREE Premier or Business account and not for a Personal account. You cannot receive CREDITCARD payments with a Personal account and we can't have that. Do we !!!!!.

STEP 2 : SENT $6 TO YOUR PAYPAL ACCOUNT

This is your only investment to receive the money with ease.

With your Paypal account, send $1 to each e-mailadres listed below.
!!!!! IMPORTANT !!!!! Be sure to use this SUBJECT : PLEASE PUT ME ON YOUR EMAIL LIST when you send the money.

1) martine@pilote.net
2) dexxatol@netcourrier.com
3) armygirl8568@hotmail.com
4) comjii@starband.net
5) sinnek@bellsouth.net
6) nsi@nelasat.com

STEP 3 : PUT YOUR E-MAIL ADDRESS ON THE BOTTOM OF THE LIST

After you have send $1 to each e-mail address, put your e-mail address on the 6th place.
Remove e-mail address number 1, and move each e-mail address 1 step up the ladder.
!!!!! IMPORTANT !!!!! BE SURE THAT THE E-MAIL ADDRESS YOU USE IS THE SAME AS YOU USED TO SIGN UP AT PAYPAL.

Remember that this is LEGAL. You are creating a service : an e-mail servicelist.

STEP 4 : UPLOAD OR COPY THIS MESSAGE TO NEWSGROUPS, FORUMS ETC AND EMAIL IT TO ALL YOUR FRIENDS!

There are 32,000 newsgroups. Upload or copy this message to at least 200 newsgroups or forums etc, but ..... remember that the more your upload the more people will see your message and the MORE MONEY WILL FLOW IN.

How to upload to newsgroups and forums? :

After you have followed step 1,2,3 and 4, save this message (and copy so you can use it again).
Use your Internet browser and Outlook Express or another newsreader and try to find FORUMS, NEWSGROUPS, BULLETIN BOARDS, DISCUSSION GROUPS, CHAT SITES and ONLINE COMMUNITIES. Use GOOGLE or use a NEWSERVER.
Use every option to post this message. Download PostXpert to send 1 message to more NEWSGROUPS at the same time.

!!!!! REMEMBER !!!!! The more you post this message the more MONEY WILL FLOW IN.

Why does this Business program work so well !!!!!.

Lets asume that from the 200 (or more) messages that you have posted, only 5 people respond, you will have your $6 back that you have invested. Those 5 people will each send at least 200 messages with your e-mailadres on number 4. That's 6 x 6 x $1 = $36. The next 25 people will also send 200 messages with your adres on number 3. That's 36 x 6 x $1 = $216. The next 216 people also send 200 messages with your name on number 2. That's 216 x 6 x $1 = $1296!. Those 1296 people again also send 200 messages with your name on number 1. That will give us a total of 1296 x 6 x $1 = $7,776.

Now the last tier! 7776 x 6 x $1 = $46,656!!!!!!

This is only a EXAMPLE with 6 reactions. You WILL get MORE responses than that.

Remember that most newsservers will leave the posted messages on there servers for about 2 weeks. If you will post your message again, it WILL again start from the beginning. So you can repeat this over and over again.

Everyday MILLIONS of people are ONLINE and reading these messages, JUST LIKE YOU RIGHT NOW. I also was sceptical in the beginning and have read a lot of these messages. I also thought that it was bullshit.
Until I thought : What the hell!, only $6. What's $6 and a couple of minutes of my time to solve my money problems.

!!!!! REMEMBER !!!!! Follow every step, and IT WILL WORK, TRUST ME. !!!!!

!!!!! BEST WISHES AND GOOD LUCK !!!!!

This is the email I sent to my repesentatives. If you'll send your email too, it maybe convince the US Congress/Senate to sponser this law, regardless of MS lobbying efforts.

Dear Sir,

When I tried to access the Citibank site https://www.myhomeequity.com/MHE/home.do?sc=0 using my default browser - Mozilla, I received a message that the only way I can access this site is by using Microsoft IE. It happens to me with other sites too. When I use Microsoft IE my computer constantly crashes, so I prefer to use Mozilla. I also own other computers with Linux, and there is no IE for Linux. Today the Internet is a standard way for many consumer products and by forcing consumers to use Microsoft products, it is like forcing drivers to use Ford cars on some highways.
Please sponser a law that any US comercial Internet site must accept any Internet browser that adheres to established standards, without regard of OS or browser maker.

Then perhaps you should tell your representative that the government spends millions of dollars, and perhaps far more, coding for Microsoft's non-standards compliant browser, IE. The government is is essence susidizing Microsoft, and also engaging in anti-competative behavior by favoring a single company with a massive government subisdy without any legislation allowing such a subsidy.

Tell your congressman that all government web sites should be written strictly to the standards, and if Microsoft or any other company want it done otherwise, then that company can pay to have it done instead of expecting a huge corporate welfare type subsidy. Alternatively, the government should bill Microsoft for the work done.

Then my congressman will yawn and move on to issues in which the vast majority of the public really care about. I hear what you are saying and I agree with much of it, but this is just not a hot political topic. If I had enough money to bribe....I mean.....finance some campaigns then maybe.

Puts a smile on my face when the Mac Jihad go off the deep end like this. :)

Like there aren't more pressing needs to take care of. NO! The government must make Apple GROW damn it!!!

How is it MS's fault that your browser is shit?

How about sending a message to the developers of your browser asking them to support the site and stop trying to hold everyone else back because you want to use a shite browser?

Microsoft is not now, nor has it ever been a monopoly. At all times in it's existence there have been other choices. No opinion from judges can change that. The root of the word "monopoly" is "mono" which means one. It does not mean two or three it means one and one only. That's why anyone with a little sense knows that Microsoft is not a monopoly. Using words and phrases to qualify they meaning of "monopoly" is the refuge of those who competed with Microsoft and got handed their asses. Even the people who cried about Microsoft giving away a browser probably use OS X, Unix and Linux versions that come with free browsers.

It's really sad when people let their hatred of Bill Gates and Microsoft take over reason.

I hope this is a joke. Nobody is forced to use Windows or IE for that matter. In fact there are standards compliant browsers that work in Windows. In fact IE is a standards compliant browser even if it used a different standard than everyone else. The government will find a way to waste any money saved. The best protest you guys can ever have against Microsoft is to download a Unix or Linux version. That way you will not be subsidizing any computer companies. If most people decided to download free OSes it would send a message to Microsoft and Apple to put out better products than what they put out now.

john, you need to learn what the word "monopoly" means. it doesn't mean
"one choice", it means "exclusive control".

"Exclusive control by one group of the means of producing or selling a commodity or service"

http://www.answers.com/monopoly&r=67 your understanding of basic vocabulary is appalling.

Wegie, the dolt who said that Serial ATA is not a standard because Apple didn't "ratify" it, is trying to tell someone about grasping basic concepts. Look Wegie, this is what "monopoly" means.

http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?sourceid=Mozilla-search&va=monopoly

Here is what "exclusive" means.

http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?sourceid=Mozilla-search&va=exclusive

I like the part where it tells you it can mean "single" or "sole".
Microsoft never had singular and sole access to the Intel platform. Anyone who is telling you differently is lying or they don't know the meaning of the words I just defined.

All in all, he shares a lot of traits with Snot. You could add

That fact alone explains their utter stupidity

OxRetard claims that Macs are "unhackable" despite the many proofs to the

John,

My letter is not a protest against MS - MS is doing what every good corporation should do - to milk consumers as much as they could. My point is - that the same way government regulates radio frequencies, car emission or airborn traffic - the government should establish a standard (I don't care if it is a MS standard) for internet browsers. And this is a reason I ask you guys to write letters to your representatives. The more letters we write, the bigger chance that government will do something - and this action will not send Bill Gates broke.

I never said it is a MS fault - this is our government fault for not enforcing standards for browsers, wordprocessors or spreadsheets. Of course MS profits from this situation, but the purpose of a corporation is not to make good products - the purpose of a corporation is to make profits for it board of directors and for other shareholders. And this is the reason I asked you guy to write not to Bill Gates - but to your representatives.

John,

Did you notice that I wrote "de-facto monopoly"? Here is explanation from Wikipedia:
"De facto is a Latin expression that means "in fact" or "in practice" but not spelled out by law. It is commonly used in contrast to de jure (which means "by law")".

De facto - it means that if I want to sure that my resume in format
.doc will be read correctly by my prospective employer, I have to write it using MS Word (I was told this on Linux Expo). It means that Intuit or Quick Books or other popular software are written for Win only.
I have nothing against Bill Gates - he have legal right to lobby our government to support outsourcing and not to enforce any non-MS standards or procedures that will reduce his products price. It is about our(?) representatives, not about Bill Gates.

Government regulation is good in some instances, but I don't think it would be good in this instance. They would create standards based on information that is out-of-date, and it would hold back innovation.

Imagine being stuck with IE 7 for 10 years because the government couldn't figure out what improvements it liked.

So a private corporation shouldn't be allowed to develop a product that is too successful? You are essentially asking the government to be in control of R&D for a quickly evolving market (computer software).
The government does NOTHING quickly.

I take that back... they QUICKLY take money the see as vulnerable from private citizens and businesses. (Let's all hope Hillary doesn't get her way and confiscate energy company profits... imagine what THAT will do to gas prices!)

No need for the government to "create standards". Simply requiring all government agencies publishing content for external (i.e. non-private, or non-secret data via the internet) to do so using open standards, so that they are accessible for all, not just those that choose a broken, albeit popular platform.

It's not broken, it just exceeds the standard.

I am not so pesimistic - YOU CAN define standards they will not hold you down - you define the minimal set of instructions that every browse MUST understand. If MS wants to define more instructions - it is still OK, as long as COMMERCIAL sites will not drop browsers that are not using this instructions. Now we are in a state were government interversion is needed - it will reduce price wordprocessors and spreadsheets and will make programming of web pages much easier.

I'm not sure why this is in comp.sys.atari.advocacy, but while MS may or may not be a "pure" monopoly, it surely is monopolistic, as well as being very antagonistic towards any competitor... Too many examples to list here.

Isn't "embrace, extend, and extinguish" one of their main mottos? :(

You don't understand the purpose of a corporation at all.
You don't understand what it is trying to do, what it should do, or what it must in order to do the other things.

It sounds like you are framing what corporations should do as what Microsoft has been doing -- placing Microsoft as the pinnacle of exactly what a corporation must be. That's just so WRONG it can't be excused.

Well, if I am wrong - please correct me. What is a purpose the purpose of corporation?

Typically, you can't say much other than 'to stay in business.'
After that, the attitudes and intentions and real behaviors of a corporation (and every different perspective on them) come into play too much to say anything meaningful.

For instance, your summary above is investor-centric and extremely anti-consumer. That is, it assumes the consumer is to be fought and overcome. Companies with excellent products that are recognized as excellent don't take that attitude, and companies with poor products that can't stand the light of consumer review often take that attitude.

For everything in between those, it's hard to pin down the 'purpose' of a company or corporation much. But it's very cynical and pessimistic to assume that all corporations exist and plan primarily to fight and overcome the consumer for his dollar.

I said this before, a judge or jury's opinion does not change the fact the Microsoft isn't now nor has it ever been a monopoly.

That's a 'Michael Glasser' argument if I've ever heard one... and it doesn't change the fact that MS has operated with a power unseen prior to their obtaining it.

That's your problem!

Why don't you tell your story to a haircutter!?

Best regards,

557. Found some old floppy disks for my 130XE (any way to verify or recover data?)

I recently went home to my parents house and found 2 bins of 5-1/4 disks from the mid-80s for my Atari 130XE (although I can't find the computer and hard drive right now).
I miss all of these games and applications. More importantly I miss many of the programs in basic I wrote. I truly wonder if all of the data is destroyed (it has been almost 20 years).
Has anyone found old disks from their Atari that survived such a long time?
Is there a way I can verify if the data is still preserved using a 5-1/4 disk drive from an IBM PC?
Even better if I can find a way to recover the data if possible and copy it onto a new 5-1/4 disk, preserving the file format etc. I would looking to understand my options.
Thanks

You need to remember what floppy drive you had.
Your BASIC programs could be on single, enhanced or double density. You probably had a 1050, XF551 or some other party drive. If you don't remember, then get a double density drive, it will do all three formats.
You will need to find your 130XE and drive setup.
There is a 10502PC or something like that adapter to read floppies directly to PC from a Atari floppy drive.
What you might want to do is send the disks to someone to test and copy for you. Probably wouldn't want to make new 5 1/4" copies, but copy to .ATR images, which you could then use in a PC Atari emulator. You could also copy the files from floppy to an .ARC file.

The chances that the data is still readable isn't too bad. My 20 year old Atari disks are still readable. Those were designed to last...

Yup.

Unlikely, unless you formatted them to double density (something the regular Atari drives couldn't do). The problem is that the single or enhanced density uses 128 bytes per sector, which is different from the 256 bytes/sector an IBM compatible floppy controller is able to understand (at least most of them).

Try to find someone near you that still owns an Atari disk, read them from there, transfer them to a PC and write them onto your hard disk or burn them on CD.

So long,
Thomas

Hi peeps

fortunately there is more space on ye olde 5.25 disks so the datastream isnt as compacted.

The 1050 drive wasnt a true double density:(but 1.5. You would need dos 2.5 at least i would think.

As with backing disks up, best way would be to use an 8-bit machine, ideally 130xe for the extra memory. Transfer it using taritalk or something similar to the ST.

the st can work with 5.25 disk so if you have my favourite happy cart, you can copy 5.25 to 5.25, well do whatever you want with it as you would any other disk.

i did produce disk back up software (that could correct some crc errors, typical disk copy protection terchnique of the time), along with tape to disk when i wrote "the mockingbird menu" system. unortunately i lost all my source in a house fire in the later 80's:(page 6 library was sent copies, as in the pd, along with a few others, whether they have survived is another matter.

i was building up my 8-bit stuff as i did enjoy programming those machines. Jury's still out at the moment..

Whereabouts do you live? I've got the means to back those disks up. I'm in central Oklahoma.

570. FS: ATARI 800XL working (?) incl videocable, monitor is extra for shipping, also cartridge (nonworking?, Citibank unknown applications)

I have Atari 800XL system, main, CPU or "console" unit - whatever it was called (I am not an expert on vintage computers/games). Owner claims it WORKS FINE, but since Chess Game memory cartridge failed they never used it, chess was the only thing they cared for. There's another cartridge from Citibank and I dont know wha tit does, I am quite sure main unit works. Video cable is included, even monitor is available but I doubt anyone wants a small CRT whitish monitor these days, it's probbaly better to hook up to a modern monitor thru some sort of connector adapter. I have connectorized videocable for it.

Main unit looks like a keyboard integrated with CPU/mainboard, it's clean and owner says it works. Any interest?

Best if transaction is conducted on Ebay 9for safety) - my Ebay feedback is 100% positive, not to mention a DECADE of Newsgroups trading without any complains.

I agree. Been using an Atari computer for almost 30 years and still going.

I remember him being being a pocket size dictator whose weird ethics are directly responsible for building highly incompatible computer lines with a shady argument like "then we can sell our software twice". Why was a PET2001 incompatible to a C64?

After Tramiel left CBM saw the light and tried to stay compatible, the C128 is the first non-Tramiel-Solution, the C65 was bare of any Tramiel ethics, the Amiga line was Tramiels Arch Enemy and so on. As he didn't have any influence on the commercial success of the amiga I tend to ignore him.

Even in the Atari theatre Tramiel tried his compability tricks first and only took care of compability after the PC and Amiga market showed him the light. Ever tried to run very early software written for the 260ST at bigger machines and visa versa? Later on he saw the light but like most closed architectures his ideas usually came too little and too late though all in all he seemed quite competent struggling in a dieing home computer market.

A "pocket size dictator"??? Jack Tramiel must have weighed 300 pounds!!!

I believe that what I considered the viciousness of Jack Tramiel was "post traumatic stress" from being a Holocaust survivor. ISTM that he and his father were the only two in his immediate family that survived the Holocaust.

Jack Tramiel screwed his dealers by some of his business actions with the Atari ST. Microsoft would not even develop software for the ST because of his business policies.

Keeping the compatibility with Amiga-line was rather easy because the development of it after initial launch was close to zero. One of the main reasons to its failure.

Hehe, so Atari ST is "Wintel free" then, nothing from Microsoft and nothing from Intel? I guess later Amigas are the same, those without MS Basic in them...

Maybe Microsoft remembered how Jack Tramiel screwed them on the Commodore BASIC deal. ;-) Way to go Jack!!

Amigas do not have MS BASIC in ROM like so many earlier computers did.
You had to load it from disk. And it was notoriously picky about being installed on a hard disk. One could go so far as to say that only those few who managed to get it installed on a hard disk could be said to have MS BASIC in their Amigas. Otherwise, it was just on a removable floppy.

The IBM world did benefit from Microsoft's experience with the Amiga.
Many of the characteristics of MS AmigaBASIC were carried over into Qbasic, Quick BASIC (they really are two separate products), BASIC Professional Development System, and even Visual BASIC for DOS.

The PET contained a version of MS BASIC, and every Commodore 8-bit computer from that point on carried a derivative or expansion of that code.

The developments in the Amiga line after the 1000:

500 - Kickstart in ROM
2000 - multiple Zorro slots; also video slot, CPU slot, bridge slots
Bridgeboard - 8086, 80286, 80386SX
2500 - 68020, 68851, 68881, 68030, 68882
3000 - ECS, SCSI onboard, 31kHz RGB
3000T - 68040
3000UX - Amiga Unix SVR4
2024 - high resolution monitor
2410 - 24-bit graphics card
4000 - AGA, IDE onboard, industry standard SIMMs
1200 - PCMCIA slot, 2.5" hard drive bay

With the advent of Commodore USA and Hyperion making headway to bring back the old Commodore line, Atari emulators withstanding, should the same interest come up for the Ataris of of old, especially the Atari ST/TT , Falcon, and the MegaSTe (throwned in for the small factor).

How can one forget GEM and ToS (the later versions) and the wonderful software that went with them. Programs still solid and revised if they can be to include the file formats that exist today The Atari can still compete and be formidable

Audio has changed and perhaps the new Atari can handle a better soundchip, graphics can be handled with a card of our choice, multitasking can be fixed to be better, all periphals can be still put into the same chaisis and pin connector to an 'expansion box' with slots interchangeable with the new standards. And a bus speed compatible to handle the new cpus.

Admirable to what the Medusa Computer/Coldfire project is doing it is very commendable. Yet without marketing and advertising they can have far reaching product and I hope they succeed, yet It seems that their product (perhaps an upgrade of the old Hades computer) seems to fall in the niche for Atari enthusiasts.

With all what the Atari computer can provide and had provided its still a viable platform to revive again.

Don't know how "do-able" it is, but I'm all for it! :)

Apple's transition as a consumer company? What was that statement about? Referring to how Apple has products that are trendy and sought after while at the same time readily replacable by the next model and almost disposable?

Could see that.

I have been using Apple computers since 1989, well made products for the most part, though lately due to interface (how you load and set up devices) I am not a fan of the iPhone or iPad. Been going more Android on that front.

I remember them well. I've contributed to the decline, I've been away from the newsgroups for a long time.

605. Atari related tee shirts

Newsgroup: comp.sys.atari.advocacy

Sorry if this is considered SPAM, but I thought some of you might be interested in a series of tee shirts, since they do support Atari advocacy. There will be many more coming in my shop in the future (note that most of them will be subtle, so don't look for huge Fuji symbols for example). I'm hoping the links work since the client is wrapping the lines heheheh.

Atari 400/800/XL/XE:

Atari 8-bit Hello World Tee-shirt - hand screened https://www.etsy.com/listing/101455974/atari-8-bit-hello-world-tee-shirt-hand
This shirt is basically a modified 'Hello World' program in Atari 8K BASIC, done up in a graphics 0 font.

Atari ST/TT/Falcon:

Atari ST/TT/Falcon Busy Bee Tee-shirt - hand screened (includes a free line of text to express your Atari-ness)
https://www.etsy.com/listing/101499242/atari-stttfalcon-busy-bee-tee-shirt-hand
This is the Atari's 'busy bee' from the GEM desktop, offset on the shirt so it looks like it is coming around from the side of your body.

General:

Hacker. (not h4x0r) Glider tee-shirt - hand screened
https://www.etsy.com/listing/111137076/hacker-not-h4x0r-glider-tee-shirt-hand
Are you a hacker? We're talking real hackers here. Coders and members of the hacker culture surrounding Atari, and Amiga; Oberon and Plan 9; GNU and Minix; Linux and BSD and others of that ilk. Do you support the hacker culture? This shirt helps you proclaim it, and works to differentiate you from the script kiddies. It features the glider formation from Conway's Game of Life. The glider is considered the Hacker Emblem since Eric S. Raymond proposed using it as such back in '03.

Bleagh, sorry, that "free line of text" is for the Hacker tee-shirt.
Sorry, I added it after the fact and put it on the wrong line. However, since I put it here, I'm happy to add a line to the busy bee tee shirt if you tell me you want one and you saw this in c.s.a.advocacy

I looked up the group's charter (http://www.newsdemon.com/newsgroup-info/comp.sys.atari.advocacy) and indeed your message is probably off topic. However, given that

a) There's no one else posting in this group
b) The products posted are awesome and Atari-related

I would say to keep posting new things as you add them to the Etsy shop. I suspect I'll be in the market for such things when we get closer to Christmas.

And since this is the Atari advocacy group, I'll end with what I used to sign my emails with:

Have an Atari day /|\

Which just goes to show that you can't keep a good virus down! :)

The iDiot Forever Known As Sinclap may still be here - but as usual, he's not all there :)

"If Steve Jobs ever came back - he would destroy Apple before he even got started. He is an arrogant bonehead" - sinclap, before Steve did come back and DID save Apple.
